Trial Run Subsidy Rejected

Combination of Both Parties in House Cast Vote Of 239 to 170

WASHINGTON, July 22—(P)—A crushing house defeat of its controversial farm plan set the administration to work today on salvage operations in the senate.

With a powerful combination of Democrats and Republicans in control, the House late yesterday voted 239 to 170 to kill a proposed "trial run" of the farm subsidy plan of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan on eggs, potatoes and wool. The coalition was led by Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.) normally an administration follower. It triumphed despite a plea from Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas) to give the Brannan plan a try.

Instead, the House voted 383 to 25 to continue for another year the rigid wartime farm price supports at 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a computed price intended to give farmers a purchasing power in fair relationship to the cost of things they must buy.

Hopes For Compromise

Today Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, indicated he hoped to turn the tide in the Senate, or at least gain a compromise.

But while Thomas reflected some optimism for the Brannan subsidy plan, some other farm-minded senators foresaw defeat for it in the Senate too.

They said a possible Senate-House deadlock may toss the whole issue into next year's political campaign while a flexible farm price support program, enacted last year, becomes law January 1.

Repeal of this law, even before it goes into effect, was another action voted by the House yesterday, this one without a record ballot. It would allow levels of government price supports to decline if surpluses developed, but would not require it.

Brannan's Proposal

Brannan's proposal was to allow market prices of milk, meats and other perishable foods to drop freely without support of government loans and purchases, and then keep farmers' incomes at fair levels by direct subsidies from the treasury plus planting and marketing controls.

This plan was limited to the three-crop "trial run" in what proved to be an unsuccessful effort to overcome opposition in the House.

The coalition insisted the Brannan plan was opposed by most farmers, supported chiefly by labor and was "political bait."

Final Moves Underway to Avert Strike

Walkout Already Approved by Seven to One Vote

DETROIT, July 22—(P)—Final moves are underway to enable the CIO United Auto Workers to pull the Ford Motor Co. production employees out on a wage strike.

Michigan's labor mediation board is preparing for a secret strike poll of the 75,000 Ford workers in this state.

A strike to back up current wage and contract demands—including $100-a-month pensions—already has been approved in a UAW-conducted vote among 106,000 Ford employees.

That poll showed that they are 7 to 1 in favor of a walkout, if necessary, although they were idle for 24 days in a speed-up strike that shut down Ford plants in May.

But the state balloting is necessary to comply with terms of Michigan's Bonine-Tripp labor law.

In other states, the strike vote conducted by the union is ample authorization for a walkout and Ford workers may be called out by the UAW executive board at any time.

The UAW filed a 10-day strike notice with the mediation board yesterday, but said it would take no walkout action until the vote was completed. That may require three weeks, board chairman Noel P. Fox said.

Once such a vote is taken, there will be no legal barrier in the way of a strike.

Economic obstacles, too, are being cleared away by the union. Last week at Milwaukee, the Auto Workers international convention approved a special assessment which could build up a $10,000,000 strike fund.

Ford has been singled out by the UAW as its first target in a drive for health and welfare benefits and a fourth-round wage increase as well as the pensions. The Ford contract expired July 15, but is being continued on a day to day basis.

During the state polling, the state labor board will seek to mediate the dispute. UAW national Ford director Ken Bannan promised, however, that its efforts would be "without avail."

Negotiations on a new Ford contract have been going on for several weeks, and the company twice has asked the UAW to freeze wages for the next 18 months. Both requests were rejected.

'Aunt Ruth' Caldwell, Ozark Log Cabin Recluse, is Dead

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 22—(P)—"Aunt Ruth" Caldwell, an 86-year-old log cabin recluse from the modern world and the last surviving member of a pioneer Ozarks family, died this morning in a hospital here.

Miss Caldwell, who lived and dressed as Ozarks folk did in civil war days, had been in the hospital since Monday, when she was found lying in a water-filled ditch near her home east of here. It was believed she had suffered a stroke Saturday and had been helpless since then.

The Caldwell family came to Greene county from Tennessee in the 1830's and settled at the present home site near Stratford, about 100 miles east of here.

The cabin in which Miss Caldwell lived alone is at least 100 years old. She and her mother, who died about 30 years ago, had continued living there after the death of her father shortly before the civil war.

Plea For Help By Blind Man Came Too Late

NEW YORK, July 22—(P)—Above the roar of an approaching subway train, passenger waiting on the platform heard the blind man cry:

"Help me, please, someone please help me."

Louis Kerman, sightless newspaper vendor, stood on the tracks of the subway line in a downtown Manhattan station. Apparently, he had made a misstep yesterday and fallen from the platform. His dark glasses and cane, dropped in his fall, were several feet from him.

He reached out his arms, groping, as he cried for help. But there was no time to help.

"What could I do?" subway motorman Frank Marmier said later. "I locked the brakes: It was too late."

A police lieutenant telephoned the dead man's wife. "I hope he didn't know what happened," Mrs. Kerman said.

Child's Leg Is Run Over by Tractor

Shirley Sue Morrow, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Morrow, Green Ridge, suffered a fracture of the right leg this morning when she was run over by a tractor at her father's farm. She was brought to the Bothwell hospital at 10:30 o'clock and shortly after 1:00 o'clock this afternoon was taken to the St. Luke's hospital in Kansas City. She was given emergency treatment by Dr. H. A. Hite, of Green Ridge.

Diagnosing of Polio Cases Is Discussed

Kansas City Closes Activities Where Children Congregate

Linda Sue, two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Clark, 167 South Autumn avenue, who has been a polio patient at the University hospital in Columbia for about 17 days, will return home Tuesday or Wednesday, according to Mr. Clark.

Linda is paralyzed in her left leg from the knee down, and will have to wear a brace for some time.

KANSAS CITY, July 22—(P)—The danger of polio caused the city government today to decide to close down all city activities which might bring children together.

There have been 37 resident polio cases here so far this year and six deaths from the disease.

Dr. Hugh L. Dwyer, city health director, recommended that the city act to stop the spread of the disease through discouraging public gatherings of children.

Both Mayor William E. Kemp and City Manager L. P. Cookingham announced an order would be drawn up to carry out Dr. Dwyer's recommendations.

The order will mean the closing of swimming pools, cancellation of playground activities, band concerts and children's baseball leagues.

St. Louis Closes Wading Pools

ST. LOUIS, July 22—(P)—Wading pools at all public school playgrounds were closed today as a precaution against the spread of poliomyelitis. Four new cases were reported today, bringing the city and county total to 80 for the year. Three patients have died.

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., July 22—(P)—Methods of diagnosing poliomyelitis, the care and treatment and probable termination, were discussed here last night by Dr. Irwin Hendryson, professor of orthopedics, University of Colorado medical center in Denver. About 100 doctors, nurses, public health personnel and others interested in the fight against infantile paralysis from southeast Missouri and north Arkansas attended.

"Early diagnosis of polio is not easy but is possible," Dr. Hendryson said, "and while even the earliest diagnosis can do nothing to prevent paralysis, it can do much to relieve suffering and give early indication of possible respiratory lung treatment."

Service in Small Hospital

The specialist declared the early treatment of polio can be carried on as well, if not better, in local hospitals or even in homes than in the larger hospitals. Little actual medical care is required in the early stages of the disease, he said, and any doctor who has the services of two nurses or other intelligent attendants can do all that even the best equipped hospitals can do.

"This does not apply, of course," he continued, "to cases of actual paralysis where specialized medical service is required immediately. But there are about ten cases of non-paralytic polio to one case in which paralysis occurs."

Woodland Hospital Notes

Admitted for surgery: Mrs. Ardell Hall, Marshall.

Dismissed: Mrs. Harry Davis, 510 East Twenty-sixth street, and Mrs. J. W. Mickens, 216 West Fifth street.

Dock Workers Vote to go Back to Work

Moscow Charges Vatican With Giving Aid to Cold War

By The Associated Press
London's striking dock workers voted today to return to their jobs Monday.

The strike, denounced by the labor government as communist-inspired, began June 27. It tied up vital British export cargoes, hampering Britain's drive to overcome her severe dollar crisis, and brought about government operation of the docks under a state of national emergency.

Troops, concentrating on unloading food ships, have prevented any severe shortages in Britain's food supply.

Before the vote to return to work was taken there were more than 15,000 dock workers on strike. By the time the strikers get back to work Monday they will have lost about £400,000 ($1,600,000) in wages.

The London walkout began as a sympathy move with the Canadian Seamen's Union (CSU), which had blacklisted two Canadian ships docked in the British port. A member of the strike committee said the CSU now has agreed to "clear" the ships.

A Moscow Charge

The Moscow radio charged today that Roman Catholic excommunication of communists was a Vatican contribution to "the cold war" that Anglo-American reactionaries are waging against the camp of peace and democracy.

The broadcast, heard in London, was the first public Russian reaction to the excommunication decree of July 13. "The camp of peace and democracy" is a favorite Russian term for the Soviet Union and her satellites.

The broadcast accused the Catholic clergy of "preying on the religious traditions and feelings of many plain people in an attempt to disarm them morally to weaken their will to resist the danger of a fresh aggression which is threatening the world."

Meanwhile, government and political leaders and ordinary citizens in the western camp hailed the U. S. Senate's approval of the North Atlantic treaty.

A typical reaction was voiced just before the French National Assembly began its debate on the pact today. Jean Paul David, Radical Socialist (moderate) floor leader described the Senate's action as an "act of faith."

Eastern Europe maintained, as it has from the start, that the pact is the "first step to imperialism."

The 20-year treaty was ratified by the Senate yesterday by a vote of 82 to 13. The action cleared the way for President Truman's formal request that America help arm her European allies. This highly controversial plan calls for more than a billion dollars' worth of arms during the next 12 months.

College Name Changed

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 22—(P)—The name of State College at Marysville, Mo., was changed to Northwest Missouri State College at a meeting of the board of regents of the school here yesterday.

Sedalia's Home From Trip to Europe Tell of Experiences

Rev. and Mrs. Bird Campbell, months simply because of the lower quality and smaller quantities of food there. He told of experiences in encountering rationing in England, a result of the war, and the general lower standard of living, almost always apparent in the homes of clergymen he visited.

He told of seeing the great shipbuilding projects of the English, and of hearing an almost universal opinion on the possibility of war—that war with Russia was inevitable—expressed by the English. He said that they also had little regard for their national health program, which has proved too cumbersome and costly.

Many European cities, he said, have been destroyed beyond description, and only a trip to Europe would bring a true realization of the aftermath of the war. He gave a vivid account of the complete destruction of Hamburg, Germany, as an example. He also said that the Germans would risk death to escape from the Russian-occupied zone of that country, so terrible were conditions there.

Following the talks, colored movie films taken during the trip were shown. Rev. and Mrs. Campbell plan to enter evangelistic work in the near future, and have made engagements for several cities throughout the United States already. However, they will retain their home and headquarters in Sedalia. J. T. Alexander introduced the speakers as master of ceremonies for the evening. Bert Hathaway was in charge of the meeting as president.

Shortage Of Foods
Rev. Campbell also spoke of the food situation in Europe, saying that he lost 15 pounds in two

Reds Comment On Signing of Atlantic Pact

MOSCOW, July 22—(P)—Soviet newspapers said today the U. S. Senate ratified the Atlantic pact "notwithstanding the broad, popular opposition and serious doubts and reservations advanced by many senators."

The papers declared that American public reaction "clearly shows that the pact does not have the popular support of many millions of Americans vigorously opposed to the pact as an aggressive alliance threatening peace."

The papers gave prominent play to remarks by Sen. Taylor (D-Idaho) attacking the alliance and urging broader trade with Russia.

Important Events In World News

WASHINGTON, July 22—(P)—Seven Missouri airports are included in a list authorized today by the Civil Aeronautics Authority for a $67,273,519 construction and improvement program.

The list of projects for construction in Missouri follows (name and location of airport, sponsor's funds, federal funds and type of proposed work):

Excelsior Springs municipal $65,000—$45,000 (land and preparation of site).
Gideon municipal $21,000—$21,000 (building, paving and miscellaneous).

Hornersville municipal $30,000—$20,000 (preparation of site, paving and miscellaneous).

Kansas City municipal $57,527—$57,527 (buildings and lighting).

Lambert St. Louis $500,000—$500,000 (paving).

Springfield municipal $16,000—$16,000 (buildings).

WASHINGTON, July 22—(P)—A diary giving the day by day activities of management counselor James V. Hunt is being used to track down leads in the Senate investigation of "five percenters."

The Evening Star said today it learned the diary is about 1,000 pages long and "spotted with the names of influential government officials and their underlings." Existence of the diary was confirmed by some government officials who refused, to discuss it further.

A Massachusetts manufacturer's report that he had paid $1,000 to Hunt for help in getting government contracts touched off the inquiry into charges that some persons, for a fee, have tried to influence the award of the contracts.

PARIS, July 22—(P)—A force of about 250 police guarded the French national assembly today as debate opened on ratification of the Atlantic pact. Normally, about 70 police guard the building.

Officials said the increase in the guard force was made to prevent possible demonstrations.

Atlantic Pact is Approved

By Senate 82-13; Truman Message To Congress on Program Monday

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, July 22—(P)—Overwhelming senate approval of the North Atlantic treaty cleared the way today for President Truman's formal request that America help arm its European allies.

This highly controversial plan calls for more than a billion dollars' worth of arms during the next 12 months. Mr. Truman was scheduled to send Congress a message on it shortly.

The president's proposal was expected to provide a bar against giving the Europeans atom bombs. It was understood the administration bill would specify that nothing in it would supersede the atomic energy act, which forbids release of atomic explosives.

WASHINGTON, July 22—(P)—The White House announced today President Truman will send to Congress Monday a proposed program of foreign military aid to back up the Atlantic Pact. Vice-President Barkley said it will be pressed for passage at this session.

Barkley, who attended a cabinet session at the White House, said the administration hopes to pass both an authorization bill and an appropriation to finance the arms program before it quits around Sept. 1.

The president originally planned to send the arms message to both houses today, but postponed this action until Monday to suit the convenience of Senate leaders, Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, told reporters.

The 20-year treaty won through to ratification late yesterday by vote of 82 to 13 after administration leaders had given repeated assurances that senators who voted for the pact would not be obligated to vote for the arms bill. This means that now in urging passage of the bill the administration apparently will not be able to use any suggestion of obligation as an argument for favorable action.

On its face, the treaty is not a specific defense against any particular aggressor but its primary purpose is to provide security for the western European nations against any attack by Russia.

The 12 signers agree that they will regard any attack on one as an attack on all. For the first time in history, the United States is joining with European nations in a military alliance.

All the member nations are to join together in developing, as soon as possible, a grand strategy of defense for the west.

Taft Badly Defeated

Efforts by Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and Watkins (R-Utah) to tack reservations to the treaty were badly defeated. The big majority of the senate went along with Senators Connally (D-Tex) and Vandenberg (R-Mich). The 82 to 13 ratification vote exceeded by 18 the 64 votes required for two-thirds approval.

Two Democrats and 11 Republicans voted against ratification. The Democrats were Senators Edwin C. Johnson (Colo) and Taylor (Idaho).

The Republicans were Senators Cordon (Ore), Donnell (Iowa), Flanders (Vt), Jenner (Ind), Kern (Mo), Langer (ND), Malone (Nev), Taft (Ohio), Watkins (Utah), Wherry (Neb) and Young (ND).

Most of the argument was whether the United States should state by reservation that in joining the treaty this nation was under no obligation to furnish arms, including atomic weapons, to other members. This was the gist of the Taft-Wherry-Watkins demand, which was rejected 74 to 21.

Even Rougher Treatment

Two other Watkins proposals were treated even rougher. One, defeated 84 to 11, would have declared the U. S. not obligated to defend the North Atlantic area without approval by Congress. Another, turned down 87 to 8, would deny that the treaty obligated Congress to declare war or use U. S. armed forces to defend a pact nation.

Vandenberg, fighting the reservation proposals as unnecessary and hurtful to the spirit of the pact, summed up America's obligation under the treaty this way:

"It is to take our share of responsibility in maintaining and developing the capacity of the North Atlantic community to resist aggression in whatever way—including arms if need be—for our own independent judgment from time to time determines to be necessary."

All Free Men Have an Interest In Vatican's War Against Reds

The Catholic church and totalitarian communism are locked in bitter struggle throughout the world. The chief battleground right now is eastern Europe. But why should a religious organization be fighting the advocates of a political and economic system?

The answer is that communism, like any totalitarianism, cannot limit itself to the purely practical realm. It fans out into the spiritual sphere and seeks to supplant or destroy the regular religious authority.

Catholic leaders therefore see their historic guardianship over the spiritual life of millions of Europeans—not to mention others—threatened with extinction.

The Vatican has tried for a long time to arrive at an ideological truce that would allow Catholicism and communism to live side by side. But the Mindszenty affair in Hungary and the current attacks on high churchmen in Czechoslovakia convinced the Pope an accord is impossible.

These events led to a papal decree ordering excommunication for all Catholics who join or support the Communist Party anywhere. It is the heaviest weapon the church has ever brought into play against a totalitarian system.

Why do Communists in the predominantly Catholic European countries feel it necessary to engage so stubborn a foe?

The answer is, of course, that a dictatorship like communism can brook no opposition whatsoever. It demands one single overriding loyalty—to the state. Ties of allegiance to church, union, social organization, all of these must be severed.

For any one of these minor loyalties could serve as a rallying point for opposition to the regime, a nucleus for the forces of rebellion.

Above all, Communists are bent upon maintaining themselves in power wherever they enjoy it. What is more sensible, then, than to keep the people in a great shapeless, helpless mass? Revolt takes organization as well as weapons.

It should be evident immediately that the Catholic church is the toughest possible center of resistance to communism in eastern Europe. Because it has many millions of followers, Catholicism wields a power far beyond its mere spiritual guidance in one country or another.

That fact is all we need to remember as we watch the Communists work relentlessly to crush this force in Russia's European satellites.

For the sake of Europe's Catholics and all free-worshipping men everywhere, let us hope the Communists somehow fail to marshal the strength they need to achieve full success in this effort.

Credit Taft With an Assist

The "big three" in the steel industry acted wisely in finally accepting President Truman's plan to create a special fact-finding board to study the dispute over contract terms with the CIO's United Steel Workers.

The top firms had held out on the ground that the proposal represented an attempt by the president to by-pass fact-finding machinery called for by the Taft-Hartley law.

But this position looked pretty weak after Senator Taft, a sponsor of that controversial law, declared that he believes Mr. Truman has the power to set up a special board.

Whether or not the president may have had political considerations in mind when he avoided use of Taft-Hartley, the steel companies owed it to the public to go along with any fair proposal that would avert a serious strike in a time of receding business activity.

White House Threatens Congressman Shafer After He Criticized Gen. Vaughan

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Early this week, Congressman Paul Shafer, Republican, of Battle Creek, Mich., publicly urged that Gen. Harry Vaughan, military aide to the White House, be suspended. He charged that Vaughan was just as guilty as two other suspended generals who had unwarranted contacts with "5 per cent lobbyists."

A few hours after making this statement, Congressman Shafer got a phone call from a White House spokesman demanding that he "lay off." Shafer was reminded that unless he "piped down" on the Vaughan charges, he could expect no "favors" in his district from the White House.

Some even nastier, though indirect, threats were made to Shafer, coupled with a more friendly reminder that Shafer, Truman and Vaughan had once traveled to Fort Sill, Okla., together when Truman was chairman of the Senate War Investigation committee, and that Shafer had taken some nice pictures of Truman firing World War I artillery.

Whether this combination of White House cajolery and threats had any effect on Shafer is not known. But it is known that he shut up like a clam, declined to elaborate to the press on his charges against General Vaughan.

Vaughan and S.O.B.

It is a safe prediction that similar threats and pressure will be brought against the Senate subcommittee now investigating "five percenter" James Hunt and his connections with Harry Vaughan. For whoever pries into the life of the president's jovial military aide is certain to be either privately pressured or publicly called an S.O.B.

Nevertheless, here are some unhealthy facts which Senate probers and the army department might scrutinize carefully.

First, there was excellent reason why Generals Waitt and Feldman played close to Vaughn's friend, five per-center James Hunt. For General Vaughan had demonstrated how he went to bat for his friends who got rebuffed by army generals. He could and did influence their promotions and demotions.

Vaughan Demotes General Lee

Shortly after the war, Brig. Gen. William L. Lee of the air forces was demoted to the rank of colonel when he got into an altercation with Harry Vaughan's pal, John Maragon, the Kansas City ex-bootblack. Maragon, who supplies liquor to the White House and is frequently seen riding in a White House car, had obtained a special permit to go to Greece by way of Italy at a time when few foreign travelers were allowed in war zones.

And in front of the Hotel Hassler in Rome, Maragon, who always carries a picture of himself and President Truman, intervened in a dispute between an Italian bus driver and General Lee. During the altercation, the general applied the flat of his hand to Maragon's face.

It was 4 a.m. Washington time when this happened. But Maragon was able to get the White House on the phone, appealed to his friend, General Vaughan, and shortly thereafter General Lee was reduced to the rank of colonel, reprimanded under the 104th Article of War, and ordered back to the United States by air priority.

This incident was no secret inside the army. Outside the army it was published in this column more than two years ago. Generals read, and after that the generals were treated any friend of rollicking Harry Vaughan. "Five percenter" Hunt, they knew, was so close a friend that Vaughan once took him to a White House garden party where he instructed the band-leader to play one of Hunt's musical compositions.

A "5 Per Cent" Big Shot

Probably even more important than Vaughan's contacts with five per-center Hunt have been his contacts with the above-mentioned John Maragon. The chief difference between Hunt and Maragon is that the latter doesn't stop at five per cent. His percentage runs from five to fifty.

Maragon first became a five-to-fifty per-center when his old friend, Harry Truman, became vice-president of the United States and he, Maragon, began to work for David Bennett, the perfume importer.

Bennett operated a luxurious yacht in the Potomac, on which Maragon conducted lobbying cruises, and Vaughan was a more frequent yachtman.

Bennett's lobbying objective was to reduce the excise taxes on perfume and, immediately after the war, to import French perfumes at a time when they were hard to get.

To this end, Maragon took one trip to France, expedited through his friend Vaughan. He also showed up—believe it or not—in Potsdam for the big three conference, along with Stalin, Churchill and Truman.

Housing was so scarce in Potsdam at that time that Mrs. Jimmie Byrnes and Mrs. Truman stayed at home, while many conference advisers were forced to remain in Paris and give advice over the long-distance telephone. Yet Maragon, thanks to his friendship with Harry Vaughan, turned up at the most important diplomatic conference since the war.

Bright Idea

Anti-austerity note from Britain: Reports say the British are considering putting down some new highways in gay colors.

One obvious advantage we can foresee is that women drivers are more likely to pay attention to a pastel green road than to the virtually colorless concrete and the black macadam of today. We cheer the idea.

Interesting Fallacies

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

It is sometimes interesting to look backwards to see what kind of medical care patients of long ago received from the best which could be offered at the time.

There lived, probably about 1200 A. D., a physician known as Gilbertus Anglicas, or Gilbert of England, who was one of the leaders of his profession. Gilbertus wrote a book which preserved some of his views on the symptoms, diagnosis, and care of certain diseases.

Some of his observations or suggested treatments sound quite all right today; others, however, are hardly intelligible in the light of present knowledge. He said, for example, that the hair was a "dry fume" escaping from the body through the pores of the scalp and condensed by contact with the air into long round cylinders.

Many Views Wrong

Diabetes he defined as an immoderate passage or attraction of urine from the liver to the kidneys and its passage through the kidneys as the result of a warm or dry distemperature of these organs. This, of course, doesn't make sense in the light of what we know today and also revealed a tremendous ignorance of anatomy.

Wounds of the nerves Gilbertus said should be treated with a dressing of earth worms lightly beaten in a mortar and mixed with war mail.

The views expressed by Gilbertus were among the best of his time and we can only be thankful that patients today receive so much better treatment and that most diseases are so much better understood. Gilbertus is not to be blamed; the physicians and research workers who have come since are the ones who are responsible for the improvement.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

QUESTION — What are the cause and treatment for lumbar myositis?

ANSWER — This term means inflammation of the muscles in the lower part of the back. There are many possible causes, such as injury, exposure, and infection. The treatment usually depends on the cause. Heat, massage, immobilization and like treatments are often effective.

• REFUGE

By Mildred Crain and Harwood White
Copyright 1949 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Mrs. Margaret Malone, a widow, has just closed up her highway hamburger stand for the season when a gigantic trailer, drawn by a truck and followed by a sedan pulling a smaller trailer, stops at the place. It develops that the cook is leaving the woman who lives in the trailer, Mrs. Everson. Rudy, the uniformed chauffeur of the truck, offers Mrs. Malone the job. Some how Rudy looks familiar to Mrs. Malone. In spite of the warning of the cook who is leaving, that Mrs. Everson is crazy, Mrs. Malone takes the position. Mrs. Everson says she is "a traveler" on her way to spend the winter in a remote, unsettled part of the country. This trailer, she says, is her home.

III

MRS. EVERSON had crossed the compartment and now opened a door in the far side of the vestibule which folded back upon itself like a fan . . . a compact and space-saving contrivance. Beyond, there were two rooms with an open door between: a kitchen, and a bed-sitting room.

Farther back, another door opened into storage space and a lavatory. Everything was brand new, shining, of the finest quality, convenient, workable. The kitchen itself made Mrs. Malone's mouth water. She thought a chef from a swank hotel would enjoy cooking over such a stove, using such utensils within arm's reach of such a variety of spices, flavorings, condiments and essentials. The window, curtained daintily, now framed the familiar desert, the dark clumps of mesquite, the distant blue of hills.

"As you see," Mrs. Everson said, using the phrase again and with her own particular emphasis, "the room you would occupy has its own radio, a place for your clothes, a reading light."

She turned and looked directly at Mrs. Malone, as if searching for some clue to her personality. "You seem to be a sensible woman," she said. "Not like that fool who just left. I warn you, there won't be any amusements where I'm going. But I'll pay you well. Three hundred dollars a month. How about it?"

MRS. MALONE realized that she must make her decision quickly. Her mind tried to encompass all the evidence at once, but there wasn't much to go by . . . only these obvious facts: here, manifest, were wealth and power. Here was luxury. The expensive freedom available only to the privileged. . . . Adventure, perhaps. Not Joe's kind . . . not the humane exploration, the search for truth.

This had something uneasy about it, even a little sinister, but also exciting. Mrs. Malone's senses tickled with apprehension and with desire.

"I wonder," she said, "if you would mind my asking a question? Is this a scientific expedition?"

Mrs. Everson smiled. Her long fingers caressed her thighs and she shook her head so that the heavy weight of hair swung from side to side.

"Not exactly," she said. "I'm going hunting. For peace and security. Does that answer your question?"

"Yes," Mrs. Malone said. Suddenly, she decided. "I'll take the job."

"Very well. And please call me Madam. All of my servants do." A sensation of sharp anger rose in Mrs. Malone like a snake coiling to strike. She was, normally, an even-tempered woman, not given to resentment, but she despised arrogance. She controlled herself, now, with an effort.

"Very good, Madam," she heard herself say.

She sounded so exactly like a professional domestic that she laughed inwardly. All at once she began to enjoy herself.

THE trailer swayed slightly when in motion, and there was a faint, faraway sound of deep-treaded tires. The outside world seemed non-existent; it appeared in flowing variations across the windows, but had no more reality than a series of pictures.

The interior itself was air-cooled. Mrs. Malone noticed the blurred whirling of small fans set in ventilators, and as she moved about the kitchen she felt mounds of wind that stirred her hair and touched her cheeks.

She was not expected to prepare lunch. An order scribbled on a piece of blue paper crested in gold called for dinner promptly at six, to be served in the "main salon." Chops, peas, potatoes au gratin, pears, cake, small coffee, mints.

And, as an apparent afterthought, but underscored: "For two. Myself, and my house guest, Marchese Dellacasa. Victor will set the table and serve."

WHO Victor might be, Mrs. Malone had no idea until, toward sunset, when the caravan bumped cautiously off the road and halted. Mrs. Malone saw the driver, quick, catlike, walking back toward the second trailer.

A few moments later her kitchen door opened and Victor entered her life. He was a Filipino, of medium height, young, with an immaculate skin and very black eyes and hair.

He seemed nervous, apologetic. "Are you the new cook? I am Victor. I am pleased to meet you." His English was impeccable, with a fresh, childlike enunciation. "Hello, Victor. My name's Malone."

Her cheerfulness pleased him visibly. He gave her a shy, quick smile.

"I'm glad the other one went away," he said. "Already she was scared and unhappy. But you are brave."

"Not brave. Just reckless," Mrs. Malone said. "You see, Victor, I'm not one to care much what happens to me. Now show me about the table. . . I'll help."

"Thank you," Victor said.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth." (Ps. 33:4) The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Christian Scientist has enlisted to lessen evil, disease, and death; and he will overcome them by understanding their nothingness and the aliveness of God, or good. Sickness to him is no less a temptation than is sin, and he heals them both by understanding God's power over them. The Christian Scientist knows that they are errors of belief, which Truth can and will destroy." (p. 450)

Cardinal is Critical of Mrs. Roosevelt

For Opposition To Federal Funds For Private Schools

NEW YORK, July 22 — (P) — Francis Cardinal Spellman today criticized Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt for her opposition to federal funds for parochial and private schools.

In a letter to the former first lady, the Catholic prelate said "Your record of anti-Catholicism stands for all to see—a record which you yourself wrote on the pages of history which cannot be recalled—documents of discrimination unworthy of an American mother."

The cardinal's attack was based on articles written by Mrs. Roosevelt in her column, "My Day." Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary said at Hyde Park the letter had not yet been received and that there would be no comment until after its arrival, if then. Cardinal Spellman made the letter public. He wrote that, after Mrs. Roosevelt's first column on the Barden bill June 23, he had intended ignoring it.

Felt Answer Necessary

"But, as the days passed and in two subsequent columns you continued your anti-Catholic campaign, I became convinced that it was in the interest of all Americans and the cause of justice itself that your misstatements should be challenged in every quarter of our country where they have already spun and spread their web of prejudice," his letter said.

"I have received hundreds of messages from persons of all faiths demanding that I answer you. I am, therefore, not free to ignore you."

Federal aid to education is one of the hottest issues now before Congress.

The Senate already has passed a bill providing for such support. It would permit those states that so desire to use funds for aid to parochial schools.

Issue in Committee

In the House, the issue still is in committee. However, the bill introduced by Rep. Graham A. Barden (D-NC) would bar turning over any of the federal money to parochial schools.

In her June 23 column, Mrs. Roosevelt said "The controversy brought about by the request made by Francis Cardinal Spellman that Catholic schools should share in federal aid funds forces upon the citizens of the country the kind of decision that is going to be very difficult to make."

She said "many years ago it was decided that the public schools of our country should be entirely separated from any kind of denominational control, and these are the only schools that are free, tax-supported schools. The greatest number of our children attend these schools."

Charges Prejudice

Cardinal Spellman wrote that "I cannot presume upon the press to discuss, analyze or refute each inaccuracy in your columns—for they are manifold. Had you taken an objective, impersonal stand, I could then, in the same impersonal manner, answer you."

"But you did not. Apparently your attitude of mind precluded you from comprehending issues which you either rigorously defended or flagrantly condemned while ignorant of the facts concerning both the Barden bill and my own denunciation of it."

"America's Catholic youth," the cardinal wrote, "helped fight a long and bitter fight to save all Americans from oppression and persecution. Their broken bodies on blood-soaked foreign fields were grim and tragic testimony to this fact. x x x"

"Would you deny equality to these Catholic boys who daily stood at the sad threshold of untimely death and suffered martyrdom that you and I and the world of men might live in liberty and peace?"

Sunday School Lesson

Psalms Knew Sins Were of Man

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
The poet Walt Whitman, who wrote more wisely in other matters, thought lightly of the sense of sin. He wrote somewhere about animals not having any sense of sin and suggested man's inferiority in this respect.

The Hebrew Psalms-poets knew better. They lived in times, like our own, full of violence and man's cruelty to man. They had either experienced, or they lived close to, exiles and disruptions of peoples. There were plenty of "displaced persons" in those days and the Psalmsists knew that these inhumanities and cruelties were of man's purpose and design and had their root in sinful hearts.

They were realists about life and man. They had no illusions about man's natural goodness and innocence. Surely in times when we have seen the wickedness of men sending millions of innocent persons to cruel death in extermination camps and ovens, and to even more cruel torture we, too, should have no illusions about sin, as the Psalmsists had none.

They knew, too, that the evils so deeply perpetrated were not matters of chance or circumstance. Everything proceeded out of the heart of man and in that heart of man they saw mirrored what they themselves might be, or become.

The writer of Proverbs 27:19 expressed this grim fact in a beautiful figure: "As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man." I suppose that stooping down somewhere to drink in a clear, limpid pool, he had seen his features mirrored there, and the thought had come to him, "That is like the heart of man, a vast depth in which man may see himself reflected and understand his nature."

He knew that in that heart of man there was evil as well as good and it was this that made him so earnest and determined that his own heart should be free from evil.

His deepest prayer was that God would give him a clean heart, and renew a right spirit within him (Psalm 51:10). Nor was his prayer always a confession of despair or contrition he might bewail the depth of his sins; and as for Psalms that King David may have written, he had plenty of cause for contrition, for he had adultery and murder on his conscience.

But after the prayer was a confession of the Psalmist's integrity, not a confession of evil, but of his deep sincerity about being free from evil. So it was that he called on God to search his heart and to know his thoughts and to see if there was any wicked way in him (Psalms 139:23).

That was a matter of rare spiritual courage. We all know that God sees our hearts and knows us for what we are, but I wonder how many of us rejoice in the fact, or really want God to search us.

I make hold to say, that the deepest defect of our American life today is the lack of the sense of sin. How can we ever build up a good life without standards of judgment, and a deep and unswerving purpose to be and do right?

RELIGIOUS REMARKABLES . . . By Scheel

T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Not By Bread Alone

"I have a religion of my own, and I don't need to go to church," a man boasted. "I believe in doing things for people. I like to help youngsters who have got into trouble, or any of my friends who may be in need. Is there anything wrong with that?"

"Certainly not," replied his friend, "but doesn't it strike you you could do these things and have no religion at all? You wouldn't even have to believe in God."

"That's true enough, I guess, but—" The friend cut him short.

"Let's examine this idea of service. If you try to straighten out wayward young people, you've got to have something to offer them. It's no use just telling them how nice it is to be good when they've learned to get a thrill out of being bad. You can bribe them with money, build recreation centers for them, take them to shows, and so on—but will that make them good?"

"Well," said the man, "hasn't it worked out that way in a lot of cases?"

The friend shook his head.

"You can't make a bad boy or girl good by these means alone. You've got to give them something more vital. You've got to give them a permanent, inescapable motive for being good. And the only such motive possible is his or her basic responsibility toward God. That means religion, but not your brand."

"It means," the friend continued after a pause, "that the whole idea of service to others is fallacious unless it takes into account both the reality of God and man's obligations toward Him."

"You"—he pointed a reproving finger as the man shrugged his shoulders in defeat—"make the mistake of ignoring the only enduring part of man—his soul. The 'service to others' you talk about is not a religion at all because it tries to leave God out of the picture entirely."

"Much worse, it is rank materialism. It's the same philosophy the enemies of religion are preaching everywhere today. It's easy enough to fill a man's stomach, but it takes a lot more to keep him contented and happy in mind and spirit as well as body. Think it over."

Dispute Policy On Surrender

Two Leaders in Great Britain in Change of Views

By Harold K. Mills

LONDON, July 22.—(P)—Two of Britain's top wartime leaders questioned Thursday the wisdom of Pres. Roosevelt's "unconditional surrender" policy toward Germany.

They were Winston Churchill—who nodded agreement at Casablanca when President Roosevelt first announced such a fight to the finish in 1943—and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who was labor minister in Churchill's war cabinet.

Words of the American president dead five years were quoted in the House of Commons during a debate on foreign affairs in which Bevin charged that unconditional surrender "left us Germany as a shambles."

Both Bevin and Churchill also criticized fluctuations in the American attitude toward the dismantling of German war plants.

They attacked the so-called Morgenthau plan which Churchill himself initiated with Roosevelt at Quebec in 1944. This called for turning postwar Germany into a farming country by stripping away her industry. The plans subsequently were dropped.

Churchill Regretful
Churchill said he was "sorry I put my initials to it."

Bevin, defending the labor government from conservative charges that it had been sluggish in German dismantling, said his efforts were "upset and hindered" by the United States.

Looking at Churchill, the foreign secretary said it was rather hard to have Conservative leaders criticizing policies in Germany after the unconditional surrender policy left Germany a shambles.

Churchill, now leader of the opposition, replied he had agreed to the Roosevelt "unconditional surrender" policy, but only after the term was used by the President "without consultation with me."

"I was there on the spot and I had rapidly to consider whether our position in the world would justify me in not giving support to him," Churchill said.

"I did give support, but it was not the idea I had formed in my own mind."

(The unconditional surrender policy for Germany, Japan and Italy was announced Jan. 26, 1943, at Casablanca after a conference between President Roosevelt and Churchill. Newsmen reported that Churchill nodded assent when the President reported "complete agreement" on unconditional surrender demands.

Three Injured As Cars Collide

None Seriously Hurt in Accident At High Point

Three persons were injured Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock when the 1934 Plymouth coupe in which they were riding was involved in an accident with two other cars at High Point intersection south of Sedalia on highway 65.

Emergency Treatment

They were taken to the Bothwell hospital in the Gillespie ambulance where they received emergency treatment from Dr. Gordon Stauffacher. The three were released from the hospital a short time later.

At the time of the accident the three were driving to Memorial Park cemetery and were about to turn off highway 65 and into the cemetery when the accident occurred. The driver of the other car, a 1946 DeSota sedan, was Ralph S. Finkland of Kansas City.

Hit Rear Of Coupe

According to a highway patrol report Finkland asserted that he was following the Plymouth coupe heading south and that when the other car made the turn he hit the rear of the coupe.

The Fisher car then collided with a 1940 Chevrolet coach, owned by Dr. Robert McCracken and driven by Oral M. Green both of Jlimax Springs, which was parked on the west side of the highway. The left wheel, tire fender and springs of the Chevrolet were damaged.

The front end of the Finkland car was damaged as was the right rear end, windshield and right rear fender of the Fisher car. No arrests were made.

Sgt. William Barton of the State Highway Patrol made an investigation of the accident.

Sisters Trying to Retrieve Doll Drown

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 22.—(P)—Two little sisters were drowned Thursday while trying to retrieve a doll from the old Erie canal at nearby Bolivar.

Janet Elaine, 3, and Joan Eileen Case, 6, were playing on a bridge when their doll fell into the water. The sisters ran down a path and into the canal, a five-foot deep channel.

Their father, Howard M. Case, ran to the scene when he saw Jeanette floating in mid-stream. He brought the unconscious child to shore and carried her to a neighbor's home. He then ran back and found Joan's body on the canal bed.

The girls' mother, state police and two doctors worked nearly two hours trying to revive the victims.

Babe Delivered by 'Phone Instructions

LANSING, MICH., July 22.—(P)—Mr. and Mrs. George W. Frazier of Lansing township announce the birth of a baby girl—delivered by telephone.

Here's the way it happened. About 11 p.m. Wednesday night George's wife, Zelma, started to feel those tell-tale pains.

George called an ambulance. But the ambulance didn't show up. And the stork was coming in for a landing.

So George called his mother, put his brother on the end of the phone and through directions from mother to brother to George made a successful delivery of the 4½ pound girl.

Mother and daughter, George, his mother and brother are all doing fine.

Home Service Girls Of Striped College Met

Salute to College Athlete Who Declared Faith in His Country

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A salute to Jackie Robinson, former noted college athlete and now the Brooklyn Dodgers' star second baseman, for his inspiring declarations of faith in our country before the un-American Activities committee of the House of Representatives.

That declaration constitutes a moving human document — a notable chapter in the history of our troubled times. It was a difficult task for this young Negro to take the stand and voice an opinion regarding Paul Robeson's statement in Paris that American Negroes wouldn't fight against Russia because they love that country so much.

Robinson had been urged by many people, mostly Communists, not to comply with the committee's request that he appear before it. Why then did he do it? In his straight forward way he told the congressmen it wasn't easy to find the answer, but he guessed "it boils down to a sense of responsibility."

Silly Statement

Jackie said that if Robeson made the statement attributed to him, it sounded "very silly." The witness declared that "most Negroes — and Italians and Irish and Jews and Swedes and Slavs and other Americans — would act as all these groups did in the last war. They'd do their best to help their country stay out of the war; if unsuccessful they'd do their best to help their country win the war — against Russia or any other enemy that threatened us."

But this declaration of loyalty was by no means all to be got out of Jackie's testimony. Under it all appeared to be an undercurrent of faith that America's internal racial problems were on the way to solution. He didn't evade this delicate issue in his testimony. For instance:

Tough on Different People

"I don't pretend to be an expert on Communism or any other kind of political ism. . . . But you can put me down as an expert on being a colored American, with thirty years of experience at it. And just like any other colored person with sense enough to look around and understand what he sees, I know that life in these United States can be mighty tough for people who are a little different from the majority — in their skin, color or the way that they worship their God, or the way they spell their names."

That stated the issue plainly enough, but Robinson went on to relate how he had been used as "the laboratory specimen" in introducing Negro players into organized baseball. Since then some six other colored players have been signed up — "a start has been made, and progress goes on." And then:

Going to Make Progress

"We're going to make progress in other American fields besides baseball if we can get rid of some of the misunderstandings and confusion that the public still suffers from. . . . I can't speak for any 15,000,000 people any more than any other person can, but I know that I've got too much invested for my wife and child and myself in the future of this country, and I and other Americans of many races and faiths have too much invested in our country's welfare, for any of us to throw it away because of a siren song sung in bass."

"But that doesn't mean," Robinson said, "that we're going to stop fighting race discrimination in this country until we've got it licked. It means that we're going to fight it all the harder because our stake in the future is so big. We can win our fight without the Communists and we don't want their help."

Blunt Language

That's blunt language. However, it seems to me not only a pledge of loyalty, but an expression of faith that the racial problem can be solved.

Neither Jackie nor anyone else can say at this juncture how that great and complicated problem can be solved. What we do know is that it must be solved — and who dares say that this task is impossible for a nation which is a leading exponent of goodwill among men. It certainly can't be done by force.

ON THE SPOT—Rep. Paul W. Shafer, Michigan Republican, urged that President Truman suspend his own military aide, Maj.-Gen. Harry H. Vaughn, above, for "being implicated in the same case" which led to the suspension of Maj.-Gen. Herman Feldman and Alden Wiatt. Shafer said he has no evidence against Vaughn except the general's recent remark that he knows of "at least 300" so-called "five per centers."

Chiefs Beat Eldon 12 to 2 With 17 Hits

May and White Shine as Battery For First Time

The Sedalia Ban Johnson Chiefs took a non-league game from the Eldon semi-pro club by a one-sided 12 to 2 score, Thursday night at Liberty Park. It was their sixth non-league victory in seven starts.

Gene May was on the hill for Sedalia, with Phillip White catching. Both boys turned in sparkling performances in their first appearance of the year as a Chiefs' battery. May had nine strikeouts, walked nobody, and allowed only ten hits. Of the ten, two doubles were the only extra-base blows. He was robbed of a shutout in the ninth inning when Eldon scored two runs on two hits and two errors. The two errors were the only ones of the night for the Sedalia aggregation.

The Chiefs also put on a powerful display of hitting, totaling 17 base blows. Imhauser led the parade with four for four, including two doubles. Dillard had four for five, with one double, and Hawley had three for six, also collecting one two-baser.

Six Stolen Bases

The Sedalians pulled some fancy base-stealing, too. R. Waters stole three to run his season's total to 15. Dillard had two, and Hawley had one theft.

Jumping to a four-run lead in the first inning, the Chiefs were never passed. With one out, Hawley doubled, then advanced to third on a ground out by Vilmer. R. Waters got on by an error, Hawley scored, and then stole second. J. Waters also was on by an error by the pitcher, scoring R. Waters from second. Imhauser singled, sending J. Waters to third, and then Dillard doubled them both home to end the scoring. Sedalia collected four runs on three hits and three errors, and left three men on. They later scored five runs in the fifth inning on six hits and one error.

Jefferies started for Eldon, getting two strikeouts and allowing four passes, but was relieved in the eighth by Stephens, who got one strikeout and allowed one pass. Crisman was the Eldon reliever.

The Sedalia Toppers downed the Sacred Heart girls softball team, 11 to 4, on a wet diamond at Smith-Cotton high school, Thursday evening.

Sacred Heart scored one run in the first half of the first inning, but the Toppers bounced back with two in their half of the frame on a home run with one on by Shanahan, the pitcher. She pitched two and two-thirds innings, allowing three hits. Merrill then relieved and pitched one-hit ball for the rest of the game. Sole was the Toppers' catcher.

Doris Eickhoff pitched for Sacred Heart, allowing only five hits and giving five bases on balls, but was hampered by shaky fielding. Welliver worked behind the plate for Sacred Heart.

Billy Hodges called balls and strikes, and Earl Spieler and Russell Fisher umpired the bases.

Ike Williams Knocked Out Mexico Boxer

Bolanos Went Down In Fourth Round In Lightweight Bout

By Bob Myers

LOS ANGELES, July 22—(AP)—The championship dream of Mexico's Enrique Bolanos was shattered by a fourth round technical knockout from the furious fists of deadpan Ike Williams but the result brought a quick charge of "foul" from the Latin's manager. Bolanos went down and out before a fusillade of punches in the fourth round of their scheduled 15 round clash for the lightweight championship of the world last night. Some 18,999 spectators paid $108,274 to see the fierce, beating, promoted for the benefit of the Lou Costello, Jr., youth foundation. Williams weighed 135 pounds and Bolanos 133.

Early today, George Parnassus, manager of the defeated challenger, said his boy had been "thumbed" in the eye and thus blinded by Williams, a charge which the champion quickly denied.

Protested Fight

Referee Jack Dempsey, likewise said he didn't see any foul play with the thumb. But Parnassus said he would take his accusation before the California athletic commission in formal protest. It is no secret that Bolanos' left eye trouble marked the beginning of the end. It started closing early in the third and was shut completely by the end of the fourth.

Parnassus said that Bolanos complained as early as the first round that Williams was giving him "the thumb." Parnassus protested to Dempsey in the third who relayed the protest to Williams.

Injured Eye is Serious

Dr. R. J. Carreon, Jr., an eye specialist who looked at the damaged orb after the fight, said the injury was serious. The damage to the retina, he said, was such that it would have to be kept under observation for at least ten days to prevent permanent damage.

The doctor commented that the bruise on the eyeball would have been difficult to inflict with a gloved fist.

It was Enrique's third crack at the Trenton, N. J., Negro and his third defeat at the hands of the 25-year-old champion. Champion Ike, appearing stronger and faster than in their previous matches, started swinging at the opening bell. He had the end in sight at the close of the third cant when Bolanos' left eye was shut.

Sky Fell on Him

Bolanos persuaded his corner to let him go out for the fourth where he battled on even terms for the first minute. But then the sky fell on him.

A withering left hook to Enrique's chin dropped him to both knees. He was up at nine, but Williams, with rocking blows to the head and body, sent him to the canvas again.

Referee Dempsey and Bolanos' handlers halted the proceedings simultaneously with 20 seconds left in the round.

Low Score Duel In Golf Round

By Fritz Howell

TOLEDO, O., July 22—(AP)—Fifteen of golf's finest professionals and one of the top amateurs teed off in two rounds of play today, locked in the lowest scoring duel in the 12-year history of the Inverness Invitational four-ball tournament.

Only four points separated the top from the bottom as three teams tied for the lead with a plus two rating, one point ahead of the fourth place team as they squared off this morning.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago and Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., firing a record equalling best ball of 60, eleven under par were at plus two after their two up victory over Bob Hamilton, former PGA champion, and Chick Harbert, Detroit, who were nine under regular figures with 62.

Also at plus two were Sam Snead, PGA Masters champion, and Dick Metz, who beat Dutch Harrison, and Jim Turnesa, and Clayton Heafner and Skip Alexander, who came in with a two up win over Jimmy Demaret and Frank Stranahan.

Today in second round matches Heafner and Alexander stake their plus two rating against that of Snead and Metz. Mangrum and Palmer meet the other plus team Haas and Douglas while in other matches those on the minus side battle each other.

In the afternoon's third round Hamilton and Harbert take on Demaret and Stranahan; Heafner and Alexander meet Mangrum and Palmer; Haas and Douglas play Snead and Metz, and Harrison and Turnesa tangle with midlecoff and ferrier.

By the Associated Press

Something on the order of a National league "world series" opens in Brooklyn tonight, and the St. Louis Cardinals couldn't be in better form for it. Their tail feathers are up.

What got them up was winning two out of three games at Boston, the last one by a 3 to 1 score yesterday afternoon, a game that marked the return to form of Harry (The Cat) Brecheen.

The Dodgers haven't been doing so badly themselves, considering their ninth inning spurt that snatched victory away from the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday, 7 to 6. The Pirates had made it 6 to 5 in their part of the ninth. Brooklyn's Mexican returnee, Luis Olmo, delivered the winning hit.

No Trouble Downing Braves

The Cards had no trouble at all in downing the Braves. Brecheen held the Braves to five hits while the Redbirds got to Johnny Antonelli for eight and Glenn Elliott for two, scoring in the second, fourth and seventh innings.

The Braves put their leadoff man on base in six of the last eight innings, but the crafty Brecheen worked his way out every time.

Brooklyn holds a two-and-a-half game edge as this four-game series begins. George Munger gets the call for the Cardinals tonight against Preacher Roe.

At St. Louis the Browns ran a winning streak to six games before losing the last of a twin bill to Philadelphia. The Brownies piled up an 11-run inning in the first one, winning 15 to 2, and dropped the second game 3-2.

It was a new American league record for runs in one inning when St. Louis rolled up 11 in the sixth inning, highlighted by a grand slam home run by rookie Roy Sievers. Fourteen Brownies went to bat and seven of them got hits.

St. Paul Defeated Milwaukee 4 to 3

By The Associated Press

St. Paul defeated Milwaukee 4 to 3 last night to increase its first-place margin to 1½ games over runnerup Indianapolis. The Indians dropped an 11-inning 2 to 1 decision to last-place Toledo.

In the third American Association game, Columbus downed Louisville 7 to 4. Rain stopped Minneapolis and Kansas City.

St. Paul and Milwaukee were tied at 3-3 apiece going into the ninth. A safe bunt by Buddy Hicks, an error by Nick Etten on Earl Naylor's double-play ball and Eric Tipton's long fly sent the winning run across. The win was the first for the Saints in seven games at Milwaukee.

At Indianapolis, George Corona's single in the 11th scored Tony Lupien from second with Toledo's winning run. It was a pitching victory for Hal White over Mel Queen.

Two three-run innings, for Columbus led the Red Birds' victory over Louisville. The first three runs in the third inning resulted from sloppy fielding, and the second three run blast in the ninth developed from bad pitching by reliever Mike Palmo. The win gave Columbus the series 2 to 1.

Tonight's schedule: Louisville at Toledo. Indianapolis at Columbus. (Only games scheduled).

Iola Indians Defeated Chanute in 11 Innings

By The Associated Press

Somebody must have forgotten to tell the Pittsburg Brownies they were out of the K-O-M baseball flag chase.

The last place Brownies last night helped Iola tighten up the race by defeating first place Independence 4-3, while Iola was licking Chanute 6-5. That left the Yankees only three games ahead of Iola.

Playing their first game under the management of Olin Smith, the Brownies won behind the steady hurling of Johnny Waltman. The Browns got only three safeties off two Independence pitchers, but took advantage of numerous walks and Yank errors. The game was played at Pittsburg.

The Iola Indians had to go 11 innings in defeating Chanute. At that, the winning run came with two away and on an error. Iola fans went wild as their team opened its new home stand in victory.

The Bartlesville Pirates, one of the more savage outfits in the league when they are right, smothered Miami's Owls, 16-2, in their opener at Miami. The Pirates got 16 hits and were aided by six Miami bobbles. Bob Wheeler gave only three safeties in going the distance for Bartlesville. Carthage stayed in the thick of the fight by beating Ponca City 7-2 at the Oklahoma park. Carthage got three runs in the eighth and two in the ninth to turn the trick. Bill Costa's eighth inning homer with one on provided the winning margin.

Second games in the new series are scheduled for tonight.

Dodgers Open a Vital Four Game Series With Redbirds

By Jack Hand

(Associated Press Sports Writer) Erv Palica is hailed as "the new Casey" in Brooklyn where the hard-pressed Dodgers today open a vital four-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Day after day Palica is waved from the bullpen to save the skin of a regular Brooklyn starter just like Hugh Casey used to do. Erv worked in seven of the last 11 Dodger games, winning four and losing one.

Ironically he copped his seventh victory of the season yesterday because Casey, the old Brooklyn fireman, now with Pittsburgh, failed to stop a Dodger uprising. Luis Olmo, who may be the prize of the returning Mexican jumpers, nicked Casey for a game winning "pinch" single that supplied Brooklyn's 7-6 edge over the Pirates.

Casey wasn't charged with the loss. That went to Lefty Bill Werle, who had put the winning run on base. But it was Casey who dished up the game clincher on his second relief pinch.

Needed to Win

The Dodgers really needed that win over the Pirates because the Cardinal victory over Boston already was posted on the scoreboard in right center field. Now with a 2½ game lead, they can't lose first place unless they blow the whole series.

Harry Brecheen lifted the Cards over Boston, 3-1 with a five-hitter while the Birds handed Johnny Antonelli, the Braves' $70,000 bonus dandy, his fifth loss.

Bobby Thomson led the New York Giants to their fourth straight win, three in a row over Cincinnati, 9-5, with a pair of homers and a double.

Walker Cooper, making his first appearance in the Polo Grounds since he was sold to Cincinnati, homered with the bases loaded as the Reds routed Clint Hartung in a five run third inning.

Hank Borowy, apparently making a career of beating Chicago since the Cubs traded him to the Phils, turned back his old mates for the fifth time, 8-4.

Yankees Took Rubber Game

The New York Yankees took the rubber game of the Cleveland series, 5-3, stretching their American league lead to 5½ games over Vic Raschi's 15th victory.

Raschi, who has lost only three, scattered eight hits. It was the fourth straight time he had tamed the Tribe who have yet to beat him. Once again Joe DiMaggio was the big man, driving in two runs with a single that sparked a three-run rally against loser Early Wynn in the third.

The revived St. Louis Browns finally came to the end of their six-game winning streak in the second game of a two-night doubleheader with Philadelphia.

With Roy Sievers hitting a grand slam homer, the Brownies scored 11 runs in the sixth inning of their 15-2 twilight decision over Dick Fowler. They were nosed out in the second game, 3-.

Detroit slammed out 14 hits, including homers by Pat Mullin, Dick Wakefield and George Vico, to whip Washington, 6-3.

The Boston-Chicago game was rained out in the American league.

Coalition to Try for Cut In Spending

Lucas Contends Congress Do Own Economizing

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—A powerful 63-member economy coalition in the Senate Thursday broadly hinted that it may try to tack on to an appropriation bill its measure to force President Truman to cut spending 5 to 10 per cent.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark) asked Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois to bring the cost slash plan to a vote. Lucas politely refused to say when, if ever, it will come up. He contends Congress should do its own economizing.

McClellan said that unless Lucas agrees to consider it, the measure probably must be offered as an amendment to a bill. He said he is reluctant to usurp the leadership.

Republican leader Wherry of Nebraska observed that the GOP policy committee unanimously favors acting on the proposal.

Lucas, who controls the orders of legislation, in the Senate, gave this look into the future in answer to senators' questions:

1. He could "almost assure" Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) that the Senate will take action on the House-approved bill to repeal federal oleomargarine taxes.
2. There may be night sessions next Tuesday and Thursday with some Saturday sessions likely. He reminded the Senate it faced a heavy schedule.
3. Senate debate on civil rights measures this session is a possibility.
4. The bill raising the hourly minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents will be put aside a few days to act on several major appropriations, including funds for foreign aid and the armed services.

The Senate appropriations committee, meanwhile, poured cold water on the plans for Chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) to save $600,000,000 by cutting down on stockpile buying.

Thomas told reporters so, after a closed committee session. But he voiced hope of "substantial support" for a smaller cut in the $825,000,000 military stockpile program.

And the committee struck a different kind of blow for economy. It handed the Army, Navy and Air Force a list of specific money-saving ideas.

They ranged from taking superfluous gadgets off jeeps to a multi-million dollar economy program of closing down inactive or semi-active military posts and stations.

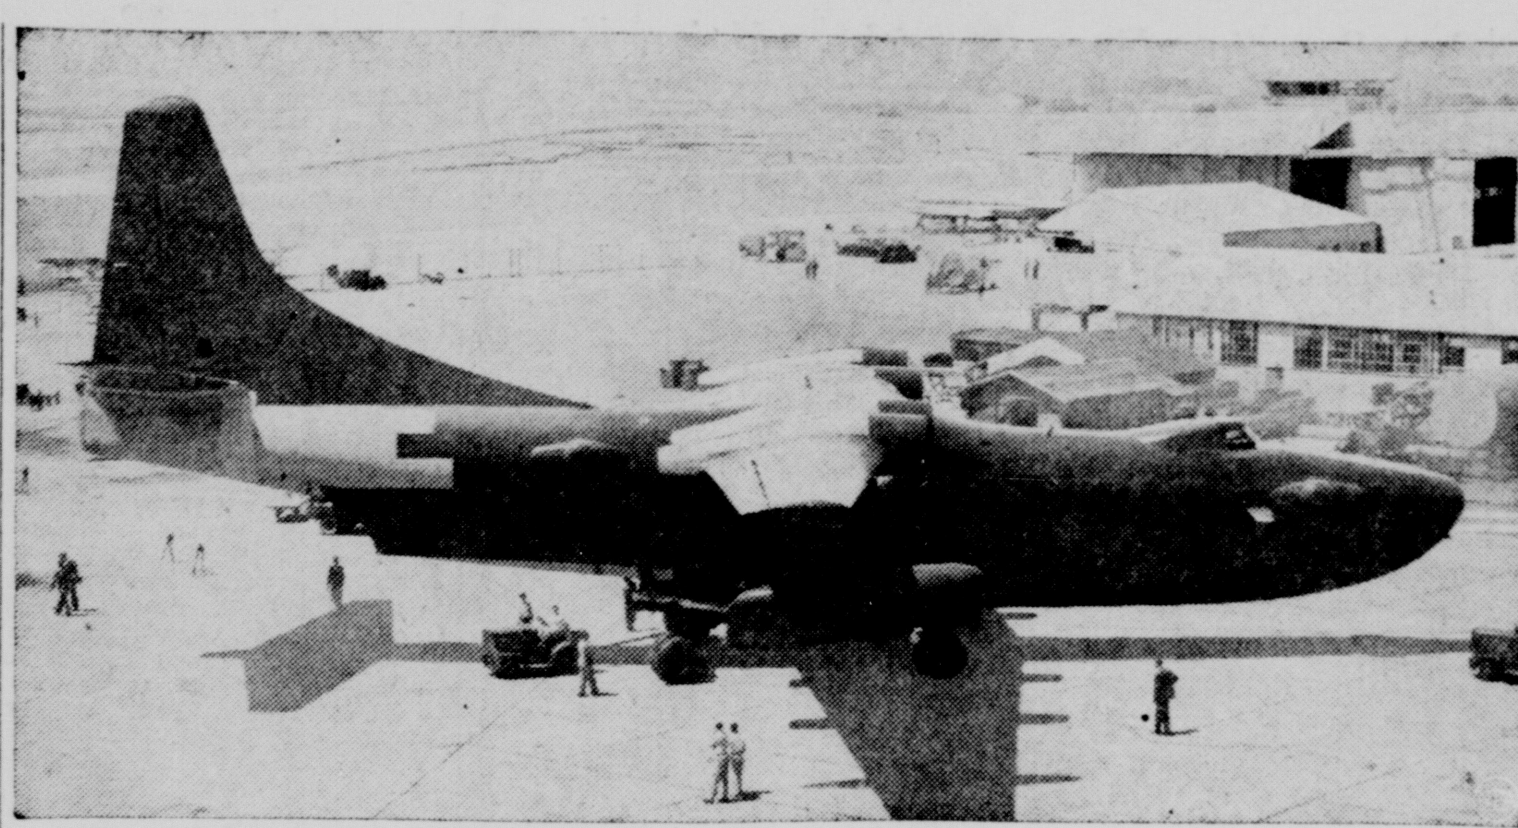

Putting a finger on some further outlays deemed to be dubious, the committee's report suggested these savings:

- Up to $50,000,000 a year by economizing on the practice flying of Navy and Air Force desk officers—making them use smaller planes, double up on training flights, and fly fewer hours.
- Another $25,000,000 by cutting back the flying time of Air Force Reserve and Guard flyers.
- About $77,000,000 by postponing Army orders for a new "sky-sweeper" anti-aircraft gun pending further tests. The guns cost $238,000 each.

The proposals were filed with the Senate to back up the committee's decision to lop $1,118,736,322 from the $15,908,000,000 military appropriation voted by the House for the 1950 fiscal year which started this month.

The ending of one-year enlistments for volunteers under the draft law will save an estimated $50,000,000, the report added. Price declines may account for $11,000,000 more.

Thomas had hoped to recapture a further $600,000,000 by taking a new look at the stockpiling act,

NEW FLYING BOAT FOR NAVY—This is the Navy's speedy XP5Y-1 patrol plane, now nearing completion at the San Diego, Calif., plant of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. Test flights are scheduled for this fall. RIOT QUELLED — Scene in the union hall of the AFL Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' Union of America, local 264 at Kansas City, Mo., police arrived to quell a riot which started as Rep. Leonard Irving (D-Mo.), president and business manager for the local, spoke on union charges of diversion of union funds against him. After the hall was cleared, it was divulged that an attempt was made to stab the congressman from Pres. Truman's home district in Independence. which already is approved. He called the committee into special session to consider it.

He emerged to tell reporters that such a big slash appears impossible. Western legislators are known to be reluctant. The cut would affect lead, zinc and other strategic metals and minerals produced in the mountain states.

Plane Crashes; All Escape

WISBECH, Eng., July 22—(AP)—An American B-29 Superfortress on a routine flight crashed and burned near here Thursday night. A U.S. Air Force spokesman said all 12 crewmen escaped serious injury.

Occupants of the plane parachuted to safety. No names were disclosed. Cause of the crash has not been determined.

Capt. G. A. Harty, public relations officer for the American third division in London, said the worst injuries were a possible skull fracture suffered by the pilot and a leg fracture for another member of the crew.

Harty said he was receiving his information "from people on the scene." The bomber was stationed at Sculthorpe, big American air base in Norfolk county, in north-east England.

Wisbech is in Cambridgeshire, about 85 miles northeast of London.

Wreckage was strewn for about a mile. One eyewitness said the falling plane "looked like a ball of fire."

Train Through a Wall of Flames

MONTEBELLO, Calif., July 22—(AP)—His clothing burning on his body, an engineer rode his train through a gigantic ball of flames Thursday to save 150 passengers from harm.

H. E. Byers, 55, Las Vegas, Nev., was at the throttle of the Union Pacific's streamliner "The City of Los Angeles," when it struck a 7300-gallon gasoline tank truck and touched off an explosion heard for miles. The driver of the truck was fatally burned.

Flames roared hundreds of feet into the air, witnesses said.

Senses Danger of Hitting a Rut

TULSA, Okla., July 22—(AP)—In a rapidly moving air-age, American military thinking is in danger of getting in a "traditional rut," Maj. Gen. Orvil A. Anderson said here Thursday.

"We lean too heavily on past experience in a pragmatic way," Gen. Anderson, commandant of the Air War College, Maxwell Field, Ala., told the Chamber of Commerce's weekly public affairs forum.

In the past, he said, wars moved slowly enough that mistakes were not costly and military men could improve.

Now, he emphasized, students of war must "evaluate, analyze, appraise and not accept anything blindly."

"Assumptions are unacceptable in a rapidly moving air age," said Anderson. "Neither are there any correct answers to any problem. Evolution is changing every factor too rapidly."

"No strategy and no solution of military problems of the past is sacrosanct."

Appointment Is Given To General Kramer

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—Pres. Truman Thursday appointed Hans Kramer, retired Brigadier General, as representative of the federal government and ex officio member of the Arkansas River compact administration.

Subsidy Plan Is Defeated

House Votes to Continue The Present Price Support Act

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—In a major defeat for the Truman administration, the House today scuttled the Brannan farm subsidy plan 239 to 170 and voted to continue the present price support program through 1950.

The Brannan plan, offered by the Secretary of Agriculture, would let the market price of perishable goods drop to their natural level. If they went below a point considered fair to farmers, the government (meaning the taxpayers) would pay subsidies to the farmers.

Under the present program, the government keeps surpluses off the market by means of purchases and loans. Prices of major commodities are supported rigidly in this way at 90 per cent of parity, which is a price aimed at giving the farmers a "fair" purchasing power. Any losses on such operations are made good by the taxpayers.

The Crucial Test

The bill continuing this program another year was passed and sent to the Senate on a vote of 383 to 25 but the previous roll call by which the Brannan plan was beaten, 239 to 170, was the crucial test.

The House also made another major decision—shouting approval of an amendment to kill the Aiken farm law enacted by the 80th Congress. Set to become effective in 1950, this law would permit a flexible 60 to 90 per cent of parity support for major crops.

A Democratic-Republican coalition, headed by Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.), took complete charge of the House, and not even a personal appeal by Speaker Rayburn could save the day for the administration. Many men—such as Gore and Monroney of Oklahoma—who have supported many administration bills, joined the opposition to the Brannan plan.

Some members of the coalition said the plan, which promised cheaper food for consumers, got its support principally from organized labor—not from farmers. They argued that subsidies would make farmers wards of the government, and would lead to a peacetime OPA and cost billions more than present price supports. Brannan's backers warned, on the other hand, that under the present program the consumers may be saddled with huge costs to keep prices up while seeing food "rot on the ground."

Bitter Debate

There was a bitter debate before the house got down to voting. Rep. Pace (D-Ga.) argued that the whole issue is "whether your government will continue to buy food and destroy it."

Pace is the author of the administration's new farm bill which would permit a three-crop trial run of the Brannan subsidy plan.

Shortly after he spoke, however, Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.) formally laid before the House his substitute measure and called for a showdown vote on it.

Gore, leader of a Democratic-Republican coalition, proposes to junk the administration plan and continue the present farm price support program in 1950. He claimed enough votes to do it.

Consider Consumer

Pace told the House it "is time to consider the consumer."

He cited the present government program of buying surplus potatoes to bolster market prices. He said this had cost $408,000,000 and many of the potatoes were destroyed.

He urged Secretary of Agriculture Brannan's subsidy plan as a means of preventing such destruction and getting the potatoes to the consumer under that plan, prices would fall to their natural level. The farmer would receive a government check to make up the difference between that price and what the government considers a fair price.

The House was called into session two hours earlier than usual to make crucial decisions that may determine the political fortunes of many farm belt Republicans and Democrats in the 1950 congressional campaign.

The Weather

Partly cloudy with scattered thunderstorms central portion, cooler except in extreme southeast portion; Saturday partly cloudy with scattered thunderstorms north portion, continued humid with moderate temperatures, high Friday 80s west and north, lower 90s southeast.

Missourians Vote On Gore Substitute

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—Following is the vote by Representatives from Missouri, today in accepting the Gore substitute for the administration's new farm bill: Republican for the measure: Missouri—Short.

Democrats against: Missouri—Bolling, Cannon, Carnahan, Christopher, Irving, Jones, Karst, Karsten, Magee, Moulder, Sullivan, and Welch.

Up to $50,000,000 a year by economizing on the practice flying of Navy and Air Force desk officers—making them use smaller planes, double up on training flights, and fly fewer hours.

Another $25,000,000 by cutting back the flying time of Air Force Reserve and Guard flyers.

About $77,000,000 by postponing Army orders for a new "sky-sweeper" anti-aircraft gun pending further tests. The guns cost $238,000 each.

The proposals were filed with the Senate to back up the committee's decision to lop $1,118,736,322 from the $15,908,000,000 military appropriation voted by the House for the 1950 fiscal year which started this month.

The ending of one-year enlistments for volunteers under the draft law will save an estimated $50,000,000, the report added. Price declines may account for $11,000,000 more.

Thomas had hoped to recapture a further $600,000,000 by taking a new look at the stockpiling act, which already is approved. He called the committee into special session to consider it.

He emerged to tell reporters that such a big slash appears impossible. Western legislators are known to be reluctant. The cut would affect lead, zinc and other strategic metals and minerals produced in the mountain states.

Atomic Policy Is Safe

No Need For The American People To Worry, Truman Tells Reporters

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—President Truman said today there is nothing for the American people to be alarmed about in current hush-hush talks about atomic foreign policy.

Mr. Truman was sharply critical at a news conference, however, of the man he said leaked information to the press in advance of an atomic policy meeting the president held at Blair House last Thursday.

Mr. Truman said he knows who the man is, but he did not identify him.

The Blair House conference, bringing together high government and congressional leaders, was the first of two major conferences which have been held on atomic matters.

The second was a meeting at the capitol yesterday, called by the Senate-House Atomic Energy committee.

Misgivings Eased

The second meeting appeared to have eased misgivings of some lawmakers that the president might act on his own to give Britain some A-bomb secrets. After it was over, senators who had talked of making some move to bar the president from acting in that field by executive order said they would not press anything along that line now.

Mr. Truman told reporters the subject of the Blair House meeting was important, as are all subjects on which he calls conferences.

But he said that newspaper accounts were exaggerated—there were no deep dark secrets at the meeting.

He said he could not give any but went on to say that the Blair House meeting was relatively unimportant.

Brought Leaders Together

It brought together the heads of the State and Defense departments, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and both Democratic and Republican leaders in Congress. Also attending were two men whose identity was not disclosed. White House police would not permit any pictures to be made of those entering the meeting.

As to the news "leaks" about the meeting, Mr. Truman said with warmth in his voice that it was the first occasion on which any persons invited to a White House meeting had leaked to the press. He did not like it, he added.

Asked if he knew who it was that leaked, he said: "Yes, he did. He was asked if that person would attend a second White House conference."

Mr. Truman said there had been no second conference. He would not comment further.

Concluding his remarks, he asked the newspaper men to be patient until all the rumors are flooded.

President Reported to Have Given Vaughan Mock Medal

NEW YORK, July 21—(AP)—Newsweek magazine says that President Truman gave a mock decoration to his military aid, Maj. Gen. Harry A. Vaughan, for his recent brush with newsmen who questioned him about "five percenters" who allegedly used influence to obtain government contracts.

The incident occurred July 6 when Vaughan returned with his family from a three-week vacation trip to Guatemala. Vaughan declined to comment on a coming congressional investigation of "five percenters," and expressed anger when one reporter questioned him about the financing of his vacation trip. He said each participant paid his own fare.

Vaughn reported for duty last Monday. Newsweek said the president, looking severe, fished a pink-ribboned package out of his desk and commanded the general front and center.

"In recognition of your courage and integrity over and beyond the call of duty," Newsweek said the president intoned, "I hereby decorate you with the medal Operation Union Station."

The president then pinned the medal on Vaughan's uniform. It consisted of a bar inscribed "Operation Union Station, July 6, 1949. Maj. Gen. Harry A. Vaughan, U.S.A., from President Harry S. Truman." Suspended from the bar was a disc bearing a picture of a desolate stretch of railroad tracks.

Warns Against Tearing Down US Way of Life

New President Lions International In Patriotic Talk

NEW YORK, July 21—(AP)—The new president of Lions International sounded a warning today against forces which threaten "the supporting fiber of the Christian or Democratic way of life."

Walter C. Fisher of Queens, Ont., unanimous choice of the 26-nation service organization for the presidency, was the principal speaker at the final session of its 4-day 32nd annual convention.

Fisher said some people in the world — he did not name them — "are using every conceivable means to accomplish the exact opposite of our aims."

Calls on Delegates

He called on the thousands of delegates "to employ the forces of Lionism to uproot the undesirable practices in your community which may have a tendency to become fertile breeding ground for the spores of anarchy."

Melvin Jones of Chicago, secretary-general and founder of Lionism, reported that 757 clubs and 23,282 members were added in the past year. Four new countries were added to the roster, he said — France, Bolivia, the Philippines and Norway. International directors elected for two-year terms included: Ronnie F. McReenwell of Hayti, Mo.

Flames roared hundreds of feet into the air, witnesses said.

Byers stayed at the controls and pulled his train through the holocaust. Flames sweeping in through the window ate the clothing away from his upper torso.

He is not expected to live, said attendants at General Hospital.

The girls' mother, state police and two doctors worked nearly two hours trying to revive the victims.

Tell of Visit To Europe

Rev. and Mrs. Bird Campbell Spoke To Kiwanians

Rev. and Mrs. Bird Campbell, formerly of the Assembly of God church of Sedalia, were the guest speakers at the regular meeting of the Sedalia Kiwanis club held Thursday evening in the Pioneer Room of Dan's cafe. Only a round table meeting was held in the Bothwell hotel at noon that day.

The Campbells, residents of Sedalia since 1944, returned June 28 from a trip to Europe to attend the World Conference of Pentecostal churches at Paris. They also toured Europe extensively, viewing first-hand many of the cities and meeting large numbers of people in their work of preaching, which they continued on their tour. Their talks centered around their impressions of Europe as a whole, following the war period.

Gives Woman's View

Mrs. Campbell spoke first, giving the "woman's view" of Europe. She emphasized repeatedly the great difference in food between America and Europe, and stated that many of our most commonplace American dishes are completely unknown in foreign lands. She told of the fashions of Europe, which differed greatly from ours, and were almost inferior in fabric and design, at least those of everyday wear. The Campbells visited almost every country in Europe, and all the provinces of the British Isles, but considered Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries the most beautiful.

Shortage Of Foods

Rev. Campbell also spoke of the food situation in Europe, saying that he lost 15 pounds in two months simply because of the lower quality and smaller quantities of food there. He told of experiences in encountering rationing in England, a result of the war, and the general lower standard of living, almost always apparent in the homes of clergymen he visited.

He told of seeing the great ship-building projects of the English, and of hearing an almost universal opinion on the possibility of war—that war with Russia was inevitable—expressed by the English. He said that they also had little regard for their national health program, which has proved too cumbersome and costly.

Many European cities, he said, have been destroyed beyond description, and only a trip to Europe would bring a true realization of the aftermath of the war. He gave a vivid account of the complete destruction of Hamburg, Germany, as an example. He also said that the Germans would risk death to escape from the Russian-occupied zone of that country, so terrible were conditions there.

Following the talks, colored movie films taken during the trip were shown.

Rev. and Mrs. Campbell plan to enter evangelistic work in the near future, and have made engagements for several cities throughout the United States already.

J. T. Alexander introduced the speakers as master of ceremonies for the evening. Bert Hathaway was in charge of the meeting as president.

Dispute Policy On Surrender

Two Leaders in Great Britain in Change of Views

By Harold K. Milks

LONDON, July 21—(AP)—Two of Britain's top wartime leaders questioned today the wisdom of President Roosevelt's "unconditional surrender" policy toward Germany.

They were Winston Churchill—who nodded agreement at Casablanca when President Roosevelt first announced such a fight to the finish in 1943—and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who was labor minister in Churchill's war cabinet.

Words of the American president dead five years were quoted in the House of Commons during a debate on foreign affairs in which Bevin charged that unconditional surrender "left us Germany as a shambles."

Both Bevin and Churchill also criticized fluctuations in the American attitude toward the dismantling of German war plants.

They attacked the so-called Morgenthau plan which Churchill himself initiated with Roosevelt at Quebec in 1944. This called for turning postwar Germany into a farming country by stripping away her industry. The plans subsequently were dropped.

Churchill regretful Churchill said he was "sorry I put my initials to it."

Bevin, defending the labor government from conservative charges that it had been sluggish in German dismantling, said his efforts were "upset and hindered" by the United States.

Looking at Churchill, the foreign secretary said it was rather hard to have Conservative leaders criticizing policies in Germany after the unconditional surrender policy left Germany a shambles.

Churchill, now leader of the opposition, replied he had agreed to the Roosevelt "unconditional surrender" policy, but only after the term was used by the President "without consultation with me."

"I was there on the spot and I had rapidly to consider whether our position in the world would justify me in not giving support to him," Churchill said.

"I did give support, but it was not the idea I had formed in my own mind."

(The unconditional surrender policy for Germany, Japan and Italy was announced Jan. 26, 1943, at Casablanca after a conference between President Roosevelt and Churchill. Newsman reported that Churchill nodded assent when the President reported "complete agreement" on unconditional surrender demands.)

Approval From Italy on Treaty

ROME, July 21—(AP)—Italy's Chamber of Deputies ignored a protest from Soviet Russia and approved the North Atlantic treaty 323 to 160 today.

Twelve Nations Are Pledged for Mutual Aid to Fight Aggression

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—The Senate, by the overwhelming vote of 82 to 13, late today ratified the North Atlantic treaty pledging 12 nations to give mutual aid against aggression.

All reservations were defeated.

Designed as a bulwark against any attack by Soviet Russia, the pact puts the United States into a military alliance with European nations for the first time in history.

The 82 yes votes were 18 more than the two-thirds majority necessary to ratify.

State Head of Draft States Regulations

Believes Some Do Not Thoroughly Understand Law

Calling attention to the fact that failure to register is a violation of law and makes the delinquent liable to penalty, Brig. Gen. John A. Harris, state director of Selective Service for Missouri, outlined registration requirements under the Selective Service Act of 1948, which he said he believed were not thoroughly understood by all of the general public.

"The obligation to register," General Harris said, "is a continuing obligation and must be fulfilled regardless of whether men are being inducted into the armed forces under the Selective Service Act. The obligation to register is imposed by the Act on every male, citizen or resident, in the United States between the ages of 18 and 26, with only the general exception of members of the armed forces on active duty and certain aliens."

Must Register at 18

The young man who becomes 18 is required to register at a local board office within five days of the date of his eighteenth birthday, General Harris explained, but if he happens to be away from home he need not return; he may register at the nearest local board convenient to him and the record will be sent to the local board having jurisdiction, even though it is in another state. After he registers, it is mandatory that a registrant keep his local board informed of any change in his address or change in status, the director pointed out. This applies after he becomes 26 as well as before.

Questioned concerning the man who did not register during the designated registration days—August 30 to September 18, 1948—because he was then on active duty in the armed forces, General Harris explained that he is required to register within 30 days of the time he was separated from the armed forces.

Watch Change of Status

"Any person who changes from a status which did not require his registration to a status which does require it must register promptly to be within the law," General Harris said, adding that those who were out of the country on the registration days must register within five days following the date they reenter the United States, which includes Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

General Harris said that non-citizens entering the United States for the first time are required to register at a local board within six months following the date of their entry.

The maximum penalty for violation of any of the provisions of the Selective Service Act of 1948, General Harris pointed out, is five years in prison or a fine of $10,000 or both.

Women Divert From Program To Talk of Board Sleeping

There is an old saying: "You can get used to hanging if you hang long enough," and maybe the same holds true of sleeping on boards, but some people are just as doubtful.

There are many people who have back trouble who do sleep on boards and that is the only way they can sleep. After you get used to it, it is wonderful, so they say.

The subject of board sleeping came up at a recent women's meeting and some of the women had never even heard of such a thing, and others who had heard of it were curious.

"Do you put the board on top or under the mattress?" asked one woman.

"Underneath the mattress," someone answered.

"Oh, that isn't so bad," said the woman, "I thought they put the board on top of the mattress."

Just Try It Once

"Maybe you think it isn't so bad," put in somebody, "But you just try it once."

"Well, at least it sounds better to have the mattress on top," insisted the woman.

Then a story was told about go-

Boy Who Started Delivering Milk at 11, Now Has Own Dairy

An ambition since early boyhood has just about been realized by Harry B. Young Sr., aged about 31, who, Monday morning begins his own milk route, delivering milk from his own herd. This desire has been in his mind since he was 11-years-old and started "shagging" milk for Glenn Warren, then owner of the Warrencrest Dairy.

Young started delivering milk with Warren at the "ripe-old-age" of 11 years, starting out early each morning, crowding in his school work, and working after school hours. He did his "shagging" until he was fifteen years old when he took over and began driving a truck for Warren.

Rated as Grade A

"I told Mr. Warren many times," Mr. Young said, "that someday I hope to own a herd of good cattle and have a dairy." Continuing, he said, "I have worked hard and saved here and there with the one thought in mind to get some cattle, a farm and start a dairy. The past week I obtained my city permit from Dr. M. E. Gouge, milk inspector, who also inspected my cows and barns and he also rated me as Grade A raw milk to be bottled and sold."

Young said that after he left Warren he worked for "Dub" Whitfield in Warrensburg for two years, then went with the Tullis-Hall Dairy Co., in 1935 and was with them until 1940 when he went with the White Valley Dairy for two years.

In Defense Work

In 1942 he went into defense work and remained in this until he entered the United States Navy from which he received his discharge in 1945. Returning to Pettis County, he obtained a farm and for the past three years has been working toward his goal which starts Monday. He secured several fine guernsey cows which have passed all tests required by the state and city.

His farm is located six miles south and a half mile west of the Anderson school house and invites his friends there to inspect his new venture.

Young is married, Mrs. Young being the former Miss Geraldine Louise Chancy. They have four children, Patsy 12, Harry B. Young Jr., 10, Nancy 7 and Joann 3.

Mr. Clark said that his daughter would remain in the hospital for at least another week before bringing her home. He said it would be some time before she would be able to walk, and that she would have to wear a brace.

Mr. Clark is employed at Esser's Hardware and Sporting Goods store on West Main street. The family have resided in Sedalia about six weeks, coming here from Springfield, Mo.

Mo. State Fair Patrons to See Auto Racing

At Its Best on Mile Dirt Track; Top Drivers Enter

Thousands of Missouri automobile racing fans, who come to Sedalia every August to attend the Missouri State Fair, are assured of some of the best race driving seen on the local dirt track in many years—in fact, since the driving of the late Gus Schrader was seen in his record breaking drives.

There will be two days of automobile racing, the opening day of the State Fair, which is Sunday, August 21, and the following Saturday, August 27. These events are being arranged by new race promoters, Al Sweeney and Gaylord White, both of whom have built reputations of producing some of the most thrilling races on dirt tracks since the late Mr. Sloan.

Seven Events

Some of the world's most noted drivers will be here to contend for the big cash award in seven events and time trials, the latter starting the day's events at 1:00 o'clock each afternoon of the races. The race events begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Some of the drivers are "Dapper Deb" Snyder, noted Kent, Ohio, big-car racer and the 1948 National Speedways champion. He pilots his world record-breaking Offenhauser in the State Fair national title competition here. Another red-hot contender will be Frankie Luptow, Detroit speed merchant, driving a brand new Offenhauser. Luptow is bidding for his first national dirt-track title this year.

Bert Hellmueller, veteran Missouri State Fair campaigner, will return. Hellmueller will be remembered as one of the most daring drivers on the local track. He pilots an aviation-engine Curtiss.

Sensational Winners

Bobby Grim, new 24-year-old Indianapolis sensational winner of national speedway features, is entering in the Missouri events. He has a most outstanding record, lowering the track record at Columbus, Ga., last April, beating the IMCA national 10-mile record at Birmingham, Ala., in April and lowering the track record of Emory Collins on the Danville, Ill. race track last May.

Electric timing devices are employed at the race meets promoted by Sweeney and White, thus assuring accurate speeds run in each event.

Ben Harleman Tough to Beat

KANSAS CITY, July 16—Ben Harleman, the 1949 champion midget auto driver at Kansas City's Olympic stadium, is practically out of the running for the current title, but he's likely to have a big say about who succeeds him.

In second division of the top ten in point standings, Harleman finally has found the car and the touch that should bring him several 25-lap classic victories before the season ends.

Ben Harleman

Ben placed second in both his heat race and the 15-lap last Sunday in the famous Orange No. 77 Offy, driven last year by the late George Binnie, who was rated one of the greatest midget drivers in the nation.

Harleman will again be at the wheel of the Binnie No. 77 at Olympic Stadium Sunday night. Time trials start at 6 p. m. and heat races at 7 o'clock.

Vito Calia of Kansas City, the early pacesetter at Olympic Stadium, tightened up the lead in the point standing—based on dollar earnings—last week by winning his second classic of the season and must be considered among the favorites at Olympic this Sunday.

Senses Danger of Hitting a Rut

TULSA, Okla., July 21.—(AP)—In a rapidly moving air-age, American military thinking is in danger of getting in a "traditional rut," Maj. Gen. Orvil A. Anderson said here today.

"We lean too heavily on past experience in a pragmatic way," Gen. Anderson, commandant of the Air War College, Maxwell Field, Ala., told the Chamber of Commerce's weekly public affairs forum.

In the past, he said, wars moved slowly enough that mistakes were not costly and military men could improve.

Now, he emphasized, students of war must "evaluate, analyze, appraise and not accept anything blindly."

"Assumptions are unacceptable in a rapidly moving air age," said Anderson. "Neither are there any correct answers to any problem. Evolution is changing every factor too rapidly."

"No strategy and no solution of military problems of the past is sacrosanct."

LITTLE ROCK, July 21.—(AP)—Arkansas recorded its 18th polio (infantile paralysis) death of the year today as the number of cases of the dread disease neared 400.

Two and a half-year-old James E. Morton died in the office of a Guy (Faulkner county) doctor. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Morton of the Mt. Pleasant community.

The state health department this afternoon had counted 387 cases for the year. That was more than ten times the number of polio cases reported for the corresponding period of last year.

Dr. A. M. Washburn of the state health department said Little Rock hospitals today had their greatest number of polio patients—127.

He said a bottleneck had occurred in the hospitals' efforts to handle patients requiring isolation but expressed belief that it was temporary. "There will be room for more polio patients," he said. The Arkansas National Guard's air arm sent planes to Charlotte, N. C., today to obtain beds and other equipment needed here for treating polio patients.

Judge L. C. Corban set Hinton's execution for August 26.

Sanders said Jones emphatically denied that he criminally assaulted the woman, a bride of six months.

Admits Killing Then Ends Life

PAWHUSKA, Okla., July 21.—(AP)—A man who admitted killing his step-daughter's baby shortly after birth died in a Ponca City hospital tonight from wounds of officers said they were self-inflicted.

F. W. Attwood, 68, from Hominy, Okla., was found wounded in a Newkirk, Okla., hotel. Claire Coates, Newkirk night marshal, said Attwood shot himself twice with a .22-caliber target pistol.

Ozage County Sheriff Charles Cass disclosed he received this morning a letter from Attwood admitting he killed the infant. The officer said the letter was postmarked yesterday from Sedan, Kas.

Cass said, however, that Attwood did not exonerate his wife, 50, or her daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Retha May Orcutt, 29, in the slaying.

They were revealed today by county attorney R. E. Havens to have been charged, along with Attwood, with murder in the death of Mrs. Orcutt's baby. Its body was found July 13 in a creek five miles north of Hominy.

The girl was strangled by her blouse and brassiere. Mrs. Bert Child of nearby Riverdale discovered the body in a patch of brush while walking to a church.

Wade said bruises on the girl's side indicated she had been dragged a considerable distance—probably from an automobile.

A boy friend of Miss Gretzinger said she had been missing since last night when she was to meet an unidentified man to serve as a baby sitter. George Middleton, 18, told officers he had a date with Miss Gretzinger but that she was unable to keep it because the baby-sitting job came up.

Man in Charge MTS Boonville Has Resigned

Third to Hold Job In Two Years; Goes Back to Teaching

JEFFERSON CITY, July 21.—(AP)—Bert E. Fenenga resigned last night as superintendent of Missouri's Training School for Boys at Boonville.

He was the third man to head the institution in two years. For the past month he has been on leave of absence.

Fenenga said he planned to return to his former position in the St. Louis school system where he will be eligible for retirement in six years. He said he had never been given a merit system examination for the training school post.

W. E. Sears, state director of training schools, in a statement from the training school board, said:

Appreciative of Services

"The board is appreciative of Mr. Fenenga's services during some extremely difficult periods, but sympathizes with his desire to return to his established position in the St. Louis school system."

"The board will continue its unyielding policy of administering the schools entirely without politics x x x."

Patrick D. Sweeney will continue as acting superintendent the statement said. Sears announced that the board will meet in Boonville late next month.

Concerning recent rumors that firearms were found in the possession of inmates at the Boonville institution, Sears declared: "There have been no guns found at Boonville."

To Have Examination

Ralph J. Turner, state personnel director, said a merit system examination for the superintendent's post would be given, but he didn't know when. The personnel division has been so busy with examinations for 382 job classifications that it just hasn't gotten to the Boonville position, he explained.

The boys training school has been a tough problem for state officials. The Rev. Leroy Munyon resigned as superintendent Aug. 19, 1947, in the midst of a controversy over conditions there.

John C. Tindall took the job, and was fired by Gov. Phil Donnelly Jan. 31, 1948. Donnelly placed the highway patrol in charge of the school until Fenenga stepped in March 31, 1948.

Taxpayer Makes Complaint, His Tax is Too Low

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—(AP)—Ever hear of a taxpayer who squawked because his taxes were too low?

The board of equalization found one yesterday George K. Roth, history and government instructor at John Muir college, Pasadena, told board members:

"Last year I made a protest about the inaccurate figure assessed on my lot on Seaview avenue. This year it was increased to $400. That is not enough. It is still not equalized with surrounding values."

"The lot is worth $1,000 on today's market and should be assessed at $500. There is no reason for any taxpayer to try to avoid taxes rightfully owned."

The board, still in a state of shock, made no decision.

Trial Run Subsidy Rejected

Combination of Both Parties in House Cast Vote Of 239 to 170

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—A crushing house defeat of its controversial farm plan set the administration to work today on salvage operations in the senate.

With a powerful combination of Democrats and Republicans in control, the House late yesterday voted 239 to 170 to kill a proposed "trial run" of the farm subsidy plan of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan on eggs, potatoes and wool. The coalition was led by Rep. Gore (D-Tenn) normally an administration follower. It triumphed despite a plea from Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas) to give the Brannan plan a try.

Instead, the House voted 383 to 25 to continue for another year the rigid wartime farm price supports at 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a computed price intended to give farmers a purchasing power in fair relationship to the cost of things they must buy.

Hopes For Compromise

Today Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla) chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, indicated he hoped to turn the tide in the Senate, or at least gain a compromise.

But while Thomas reflected some optimism for the Brannan subsidy plan, some other farm-minded senators foresaw defeat for it in the Senate too.

They said a possible Senate-House deadlock may toss the whole issue into next year's political campaign while a flexible farm price support program, enacted last year, becomes law January 1.

Repeal of this law, even before it goes into effect, was another action voted by the House yesterday, this one without a record ballot. It would allow levels of government price supports to decline if surpluses developed, but would not require it.

Brannan's Proposal

Brannan's proposal was to allow market prices of milk, meats and other perishable foods to drop freely without support of government loans and purchases, and then keep farmers' incomes at fair levels by direct subsidies from the treasury plus planting and marketing controls.

This plan was limited to the three-crop "trial run" in what proved to be an unsuccessful effort to overcome opposition in the House.

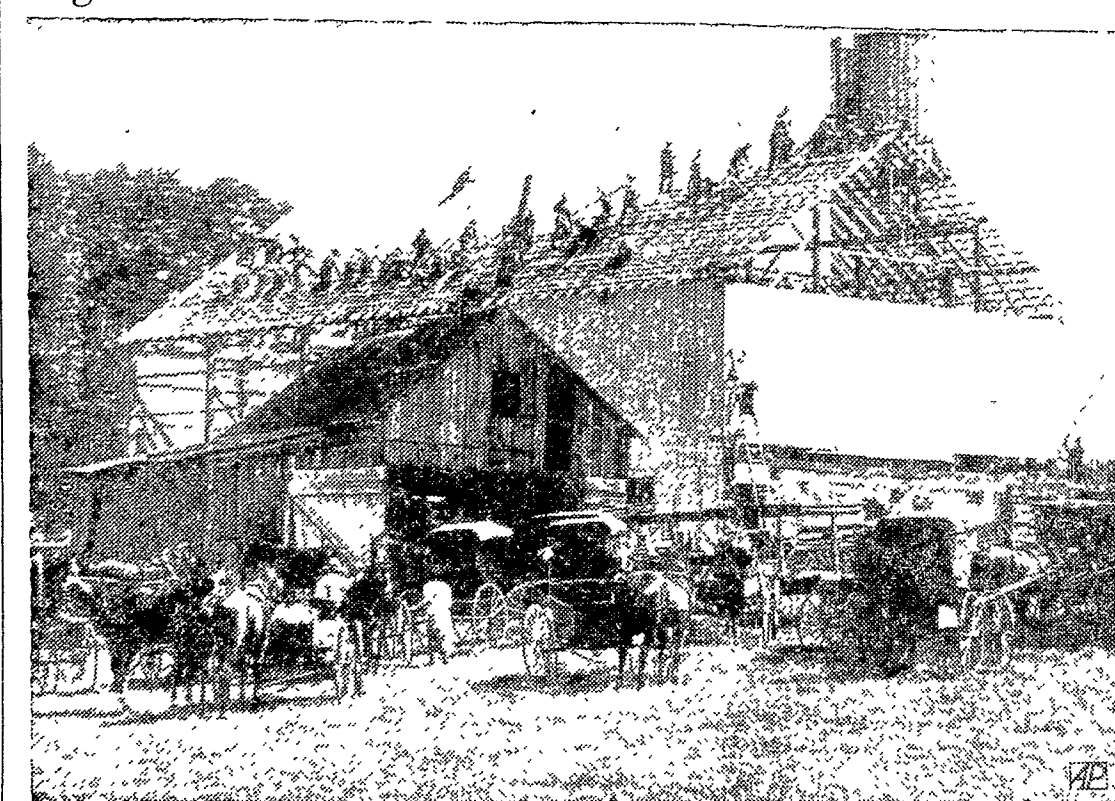

The coalition insisted the Brannan plan was opposed by most farmers, supported chiefly by labor and was "political bait."

Final Moves Underway to Avert Strike

Walkout Already Approved by Seven to One Vote

DETROIT, July 22—(AP)—Final moves are underway to enable the CIO United Auto Workers to pull the Ford Motor Co. production employees out on a wage strike.

Michigan's labor mediation board is preparing for a secret strike poll of the 75,000 Ford workers in this state.

A strike to back up current wage and contract demands—including $100-a-month pensions—already has been approved in a UAW-conducted vote among 106,000 Ford employees.

That poll showed that they are 7 to 1 in favor of a walkout, if necessary, although they were idle for 24 days in a speed-up strike that shut down Ford plants in May.

But the state balloting is necessary to comply with terms of Michigan's Bonine-Tripp labor law.

In other states, the strike vote conducted by the union is ample authorization for a walkout and Ford workers may be called out by the UAW executive board at any time.

The UAW filed a 10-day strike notice with the mediation board yesterday, but said it would take no walkout action until the vote was completed. That may require three weeks, board chairman Noel P. Fox said.

Once such a vote is taken, there will be no legal barrier in the way of a strike.

Economic obstacles, too, are being cleared away by the union. Last week at Milwaukee, the Auto Workers international convention approved a special assessment which could build up a $10,000,000 strike fund.

Ford has been singled out by the UAW as its first target in a drive for health and welfare benefits and a fourth-round wage increase as well as the pensions. The Ford contract expired July 15, but is being continued on a day to day basis.

During the state polling, the state labor board will seek to mediate the dispute. UAW national Ford director Ken Bannan promised, however, that its efforts would be "without avail."

Negotiations on a new Ford contract have been going on for several weeks, and the company twice has asked the UAW to freeze wages for the next 18 months. Both requests were rejected.

Plea For Help By Blind Man Came Too Late

NEW YORK, July 22—(AP)—Above the roar of an approaching subway train, passenger waiting on the platform heard the blind man cry:

"Help me, please, someone please help me."

Louis Kerman, sightless newspaper vendor, stood on the tracks of the subway line in a downtown Manhattan station. Apparently, he had made a misstep yesterday and fallen from the platform.

His dark glasses and cane, dropped in his fall, were several feet from him.

He reached out his arms, groping, as he cried for help. But there was no time to help.

"What could I do?" subway motorman Frank Marmier said later. "I locked the brakes. It was too late."

A police lieutenant telephoned the dead man's wife. "I hope he didn't know what happened," Mrs. Kerman said.

Diagnosing of Polio Cases Is Discussed

Kansas City Closes Activities Where Children Congregate

Linda Sue, two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Clark, 167 South Autumn avenue, who has been a polio patient at the University hospital in Columbia for about 17 days, will return home Tuesday or Wednesday, according to Mr. Clark.

Linda is paralyzed in her left leg from the knee down, and will have to wear a brace for some time.

KANSAS CITY, July 22—(AP)—The danger of polio caused the city government today to decide to close down all city activities which might bring children together.

There have been 37 resident polio cases here so far this year and six deaths from the disease.

Dr. Hugh L. Dwyer, city health director, recommended that the city act to stop the spread of the disease through discouraging public gatherings of children.

Both Mayor William E. Kemp and City Manager L. P. Cookingham announced an order would be drawn up to carry out Dr. Dwyer's recommendations.

The order will mean the closing of swimming pools, cancellation of playground activities, band concerts and children's baseball leagues.

St. Louis Closes Wading Pools

ST. LOUIS, July 22—(AP)—Wading pools at all public school playgrounds were closed today as a precaution against the spread of poliomyelitis. Four new cases were reported today, bringing the city and county total to 80 for the year. Three patients have died.

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., July 22—(AP)—Methods of diagnosing poliomyelitis, the care and treatment and probable termination, were discussed here last night by Dr. Irwin Hendryson, professor of orthopedics, University of Colorado medical center in Denver. About 100 doctors, nurses, public health personnel and others interested in the fight against infantile paralysis from southeast Missouri and north Arkansas attended.

"Early diagnosis of polio is not easy but is possible," Dr. Hendryson said, "and while even the earliest diagnosis can do nothing to prevent paralysis if there is to be paralysis, it can do much to relieve suffering and give early indication of possible respiratory paralysis and the need for iron lung treatment."

Service in Small Hospital

The specialist declared the early treatment of polio can be carried on as well, if not better, in local hospitals or even in homes than in the larger hospitals. Little actual medical care is required in the early stages of the disease, he said, and any doctor who has the services of two nurses or other intelligent attendants can do all that even the best equipped hospitals can do.

"This does not apply, of course," he continued, "to cases of actual paralysis where specialized medical service is required immediately. But there are about ten cases of non-paralytic polio to one case in which paralysis occurs."

Woodland Hospital Notes

Dock Workers Vote to go Back to Work

Moscow Charges Vatican With Giving Aid to Cold War

By The Associated Press

London's striking dock workers voted today to return to their jobs Monday.

The strike, denounced by the labor government as communist-inspired, began June 27. It tied up vital British export cargoes, hampering Britain's drive to overcome her severe dollar crisis, and brought about government operation of the docks under a state of national emergency.

Troops, concentrating on unloading food ships, have prevented any severe shortages in Britain's food supply.

Before the vote to return to work was taken there were more than 15,000 dock workers on strike. By the time the strikers get back to work Monday they will have lost about £400,000 ($1,600,000) in wages.

The London walkout began as a sympathy move with the Canadian Seamen's Union (CSU), which had blacklisted two Canadian ships docked in the British port. A member of the strike committee said the CSU now has agreed to "clear" the ships.

A Moscow Charge

The Moscow radio charged today that Roman Catholic excommunication of communists was a Vatican contribution to "the cold war that Anglo-American reactionaries are waging against the camp of peace and democracy."

The broadcast, heard in London, was the first public Russian reaction to the excommunication decree of July 13. "The camp of peace and democracy" is a favorite Russian term for the Soviet Union and her satellites.

The broadcast accused the Catholic clergy of "preying on the religious traditions and feelings of many plain people in an attempt to disarm them morally to weaken their will to resist the danger of a fresh aggression which is threatening the world."

Meanwhile, government and political leaders and ordinary citizens in the western camp hailed the U. S. Senate's approval of the North Atlantic treaty.

A typical reaction was voiced just before the French National Assembly began its debate on the pact today. Jean Paul David, Radical Socialist (moderate) floor leader described the Senate's action as an "act of faith."

Eastern Europe maintained, as it has from the start, that the pact is the "first step to imperialist war."

The 20-year treaty was ratified by the Senate yesterday by a vote of 82 to 13. The action cleared the way for President Truman's formal request that America help arm her European allies. This highly controversial plan calls for more than a billion dollars' worth of arms during the next 12 months.

Sedalians Home From Trip to Europe Tell of Experiences

Rev. and Mrs. Bird Campbell, formerly of the Assembly of God church of Sedalia, were the guest speakers at the regular meeting of the Sedalia Kiwanis club held Thursday evening in the Pioneer Room of Dan's cafe. Only a round table meeting was held in the Bothwell hotel at noon that day.

The Campbells, residents of Sedalia since 1944, returned June 28 from a trip to Europe to attend the World Conference of Pentecostal churches at Paris. They also toured Europe extensively, viewing first-hand many of the cities and meeting large numbers of people in their work of preaching, which they continued on their tour. Their talks centered around their impressions of Europe as a whole, following the war period.

Gives Woman's View

Mrs. Campbell spoke first, giving the "woman's view" of Europe. She emphasized repeatedly the great difference in food between America and Europe, and stated that many of our most commonplace American dishes are completely unknown in foreign lands. She told of the fashions of Europe, which differed greatly from ours, and were almost inferior in fabric and design, at least those of everyday wear. The Campbells visited almost every country in Europe, and all the provinces of the British Isles, but considered Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries the most beautiful.

Shortage Of Foods

Rev. Campbell also spoke of the food situation in Europe, saying that he lost 15 pounds in two

Reds Comment On Signing of Atlantic Pact

MOSCOW, July 22—(AP)—Soviet newspapers said today the U. S. Senate ratified the Atlantic pact "notwithstanding the broad, popular opposition and serious doubts and reservations advanced by many senators."

The papers declared that American public reaction "clearly shows that the pact does not have the popular support of many millions of Americans vigorously opposed to the pact as an aggressive alliance threatening peace."

The papers gave prominent play to remarks by Sen. Taylor (D-Idaho) attacking the alliance and urging broader trade with Russia.

The Evening Star said today it learned the diary is about 1,000 pages long and "spotted with the names of influential government officials and their underlings." Existence of the diary was confirmed by some government officials who refused, to discuss it further.

A Massachusetts manufacturer's report that he had paid $1,000 to Hunt for help in getting government contracts touched off the inquiry into charges that some persons, for a fee, have tried to influence the award of the contracts.

PARIS, July 22—(AP)—A force of about 250 police guarded the French national assembly today as debate opened on ratification of the Atlantic pact. Normally, about 70 police guard the building.

Officials said the increase in the guard force was made to prevent possible demonstrations.

Atlantic Pact is Approved

By Senate 82-13; Truman Message To Congress on Program Monday

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(AP)—Overwhelming senate approval of the North Atlantic treaty cleared the way today for President Truman's formal request that America help arm its European allies.

This highly controversial plan calls for more than a billion dollars' worth of arms during the next 12 months. Mr. Truman was scheduled to send Congress a message on it shortly.

The president's proposal was expected to provide a bar against giving the Europeans atom bombs. It was understood the administration bill would specify that nothing in it would supersede the atomic energy act, which forbids release of atomic explosives.

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—The White House announced today President Truman will send to Congress Monday a proposed program of foreign military aid to back up the Atlantic Pact. Vice-President Barkley said it will be pressed for passage at this session.

Barkley, who attended a cabinet session at the White House, said the administration hopes to pass both an authorization bill and an appropriation to finance the arms program before it quits around Sept. 1.

The president originally planned to send the arms message to both houses today, but postponed this action until Monday to suit the convenience of Senate leaders, Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, told reporters.

The 20-year treaty won through to ratification late yesterday by vote of 82 to 13 after administration leaders had given repeated assurances that senators who voted for the pact would not be obligated to vote for the arms bill. This means that now in urging passage of the bill the administration apparently will not be able to use any suggestion of obligation as an argument for favorable action.

On its face, the treaty is not a specific defense against any particular aggressor but its primary purpose is to provide security for the western European nations against any attack by Russia.

The 12 signers agree that they will regard any attack on one as an attack on all. For the first time in history, the United States is joining with European nations in a military alliance.

All the member nations are to join together in developing, as soon as possible, a grand strategy of defense for the west.

Taft Badly Defeated

Efforts by Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and Watkins (R-Utah) to tack reservations to the treaty were badly defeated. The big majority of the senate went along with Senators Connally (D-Tex) and Vandenberg (R-Mich). The 82 to 13 ratification vote exceeded by 18 the 64 votes required for two-thirds approval.

Two Democrats and 11 Republicans voted against ratification.

The Democrats were Senators Edwin C. Johnson (Colo) and Taylor (Idaho).

The Republicans were Senators Cordon (Ore), Donnell (Mo), Flanders (Vt), Jenner (Ind), Kem (Mo), Langer (ND), Malone (Nev), Taft (Ohio), Watkins (Utah), Wherry (Neb) and Young (ND).

Most of the argument was whether the United States should state by reservation that in joining the treaty this nation was under no obligation to furnish arms, including atomic weapons, to other members. This was the gist of the Taft-Wherry-Watkins demand, which was rejected 74 to 21.

Even Rougher Treatment

Two other Watkins proposals were treated even rougher. One, defeated 84 to 11, would have defeated the U. S. not obligated to defend the North Atlantic area without approval by Congress. Another, turned down 87 to 8, would deny that the treaty obligated Congress to declare war or use U. S. armed forces to defend a pact nation.

Vandenberg, fighting the reservation proposals as unnecessary and hurtful to the spirit of the pact, summed up America's obligation under the treaty this way: "It is to take our share of responsibility in maintaining and developing the capacity of the North Atlantic community to resist aggression in whatever way—including arms if need be—our own independent judgment from time to time determines to be necessary."

'Aunt Ruth' Caldwell, Ozark Log Cabin Recluse, is Dead

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 22—(AP)—"Aunt Ruth" Caldwell, an 86-year-old log cabin recluse from the modern world and the last surviving member of a pioneer Ozarks family, died this morning in a hospital here.

Miss Caldwell, who lived and dressed as Ozarks folk did in civil war days, had been in the hospital since Monday, when she was found lying in a water-filled ditch near her home east of here. It was believed she had suffered a stroke Saturday and had been helpless since then.

The Caldwell family came to Greene county from Tennessee in the 1830's and settled at the present home site near Stratford, about 100 miles east of here. The cabin in which Miss Caldwell lived alone is at least 100 years old. She and her mother, who died about 30 years ago, had continued living there after the death of her father shortly before the civil war.

Miss Caldwell's primitive way of life came to light last March when three men broke into her home and robbed her of about $100—her life's savings. Members of Woodland Heights Presbyterian church here chipped in and gave Miss Caldwell $100 to "restore her faith in humanity."

Miss Caldwell walked a half-mile to a spring for water, and her only livelihood came from selling

All Free Men Have an Interest In Vatican's War Against Reds

The Catholic church and totalitarian communism are locked in bitter struggle throughout the world. The chief battleground right now is eastern Europe. But why should a religious organization be fighting the advocates of a political and economic system?

The answer is that communism, like any totalitarianism, cannot limit itself to the purely practical realm. It fans out into the spiritual sphere and seeks to supplant or destroy the regular religious authority.

Catholic leaders therefore see their historic guardianship over the spiritual life of millions of Europeans—not to mention others—threatened with extinction.

The Vatican has tried for a long time to arrive at an ideological truce that would allow Catholicism and communism to live side by side. But the Mindszenty affair in Hungary and the current attacks on high churchmen in Czechoslovakia convinced the Pope an accord is impossible.

These events led to a papal decree ordering excommunication for all Catholics who join or support the Communist Party anywhere. It is the heaviest weapon the church has ever brought into play against a totalitarian system.

Why do Communists in the predominantly Catholic European countries feel it necessary to engage so stubborn a foe?

The answer is, of course, that a dictatorship like communism can brook no opposition whatsoever. It demands one single overriding loyalty—to the state. Ties of allegiance to church, union, social organization, all of these must be severed.

For any one of these minor loyalties could serve as a rallying point for opposition to the regime, a nucleus for the forces of rebellion.

Above all, Communists are bent upon maintaining themselves in power wherever they enjoy it. What is more sensible, then, than to keep the people in a great shapeless, helpless mass? Revolt takes organization as well as weapons.

It should be evident immediately that the Catholic church is the toughest possible center of resistance to communism in eastern Europe. Because it has many millions of followers, Catholicism wields a power far beyond its mere spiritual guidance in one country or another.

That fact is all we need to remember as we watch the Communists work relentlessly to crush this force in Russia's European satellites.

For the sake of Europe's Catholics and all free-worshipping men everywhere, let us hope the Communists somehow fail to marshal the strength they need to achieve full success in this effort.

Credit Taft With an Assist

The "big three" in the steel industry acted wisely in finally accepting President Truman's plan to create a special fact-finding board to study the dispute over contract terms with the CIO's United Steel Workers.

The top firms had held out on the ground that the proposal represented an attempt by the president to by-pass fact-finding machinery called for by the Taft-Hartley law.

But this position looked pretty weak after Senator Taft, a sponsor of that controversial law, declared that he believes Mr. Truman has the power to set up a special board.

Whether or not the president may have had political considerations in mind when he avoided use of Taft-Hartley, the steel companies owed it to the public to go along with any fair proposal that would avert a serious strike in a time of receding business activity.

White House Threatens Congressman Shafer After He Criticized Gen. Vaughan

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Early this week, Congressman Paul Shafer, Republican, of Battle Creek, Mich., publicly urged that Gen. Harry Vaughan, military aide to the White House, be suspended. He charged that Vaughan was just as guilty as two other suspended generals who had unwarranted contacts with "5 per cent lobbyists."

A few hours after making this statement, Congressman Shafer got a phone call from a White House spokesman demanding that he "lay off." Shafer was reminded that unless he "piped down" on the Vaughan charges, he could expect no "favors" in his district from the White House.

Some even nastier, though indirect, threats were made to Shafer, coupled with a more friendly reminder that Shafer, Truman and Vaughan had once traveled to Fort Sill, Okla., together when Truman was chairman of the Senate War Investigation committee, and that Shafer had taken some nice pictures of Truman firing World War I artillery.

Whether this combination of White House cajolery and threats had any effect on Shafer is not known. But it is known that he shut up like a clam, declined to elaborate to the press on his charges against General Vaughan.

Vaughan and S.O.B.

It is a safe prediction that similar threats and pressure will be brought against the Senate subcommittee now investigating "five percenter" James Hunt and his connections with Harry Vaughan. For whoever pries into the life of the president's jovial military aide is certain to be either privately pressured or publicly called an S.O.B.

Nevertheless, here are some unhealthy facts which Senate probers and the army department might scrutinize carefully.

First, there was excellent reason why Generals Waitt and Feldman played close to Vaughn's friend, five per-center James Hunt. For General Vaughan had demonstrated how he went to bat for his friends who got rebuffed by army generals. He could and did influence their promotions and demotions.

Vaughan Demotes General Lee

Shortly after the war, Brig. Gen. William L. Lee of the air forces was demoted to the rank of colonel when he got into an altercation with Harry Vaughan's pal, John Maragon, the Kansas City ex-bootblack. Maragon, who supplies liquor to the White House and is frequently seen riding in a White House car, had obtained a special permit to go to Greece by way of Italy at a time when few foreign travelers were allowed in war zones.

And in front of the Hotel Hassler in Rome, Maragon, who always carries a picture of himself and President Truman, intervened in a dispute between an Italian bus driver and General Lee. During the altercation, the general applied the flat of his hand to Maragon's face.

It was 4 a.m. Washington time when this happened. But Maragon was able to get the White House on the phone, appealed to his friend, General Vaughan, and shortly thereafter General Lee was reduced to the rank of colonel, reprimanded under the 104th Article of War, and ordered back to the United States by air priority.

This incident was no secret inside the army. Outside the army it was published in this column more than two years ago. Generals read, and after that the generals were treated any friend of rollicking Harry Vaughan. "Five percenter" Hunt, they knew, was so close a friend that Vaughan once took him to a White House garden party where he instructed the band-leader to play one of Hunt's musical compositions.

A "5 Per Cent" Big Shot

Probably even more important than Vaughan's contacts with five per-center Hunt have been his contacts with the above-mentioned John Maragon. The chief difference between Hunt and Maragon is that the latter doesn't stop at five per cent. His percentage runs from five to fifty.

Maragon first became a five-to-fifty per-center when his old friend, Harry Truman, became vice-president of the United States and he, Maragon, began to work for David Bennett, the perfume importer.

Bennett operated a luxurious yacht in the Potomac, on which Maragon conducted lobbying cruises, and Vaughan was a more frequent yachtsman.

Bennett's lobbying objective was to reduce the excise taxes on perfumery and, immediately after the war, to import French perfumes at a time when they were hard to get.

To this end, Maragon took one trip to France, expeditied through his friend Vaughan. He also showed up—believe it or not—in Potsdam for the big three conference, along with Stalin, Churchill and Truman.

Housing was so scarce in Potsdam at that time that Mrs. Jimmie Byrnes and Mrs. Truman stayed at home, while many conference advisers were forced to remain in Paris and give advice over the long-distance telephone. Yet Maragon, thanks to his friendship with Harry Vaughan, turned up at the most important diplomatic conference since the war.

Bright Idea

Anti-austerity note from Britain: Reports say the British are considering putting down some new highways in gay colors.

One obvious advantage we can foresee is that women drivers are more likely to pay attention to a pastel green road than to the virtually colorless concrete and the black macadam of today. We cheer the idea.

Interesting Fallacies

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

It is sometimes interesting to look backwards to see what kind of medical care patients of long ago received from the best which could be offered at the time.

There lived, probably about 1200 A. D., a physician known as Gilbertus Anglicas, or Gilbert of England, who was one of the leaders of his profession. Gilbertus wrote a book which preserved some of his views on the symptoms, diagnosis, and care of certain diseases.

Some of his observations or suggested treatments sound quite all right today; others, however, are hardly intelligible in the light of present knowledge. He said, for example, that the hair was a "dry fume" escaping from the body through the pores of the scalp and condensed by contact with the air into long round cylinders.

Many Views Wrong

Diabetes he defined as an immoderate passage or attraction of urine from the liver to the kidneys and its passage through the kidneys as the result of a warm or dry distemperature of these organs. This, of course, doesn't make sense in the light of what we know today and also revealed a tremendous ignorance of anatomy.

Wounds of the nerves Gilbertus said should be treated with a dressing of earth worms lightly beaten in a mortar and mixed with war moul.

The views expressed by Gilbertus were among the best of his time and we can only be thankful that patients today receive so much better treatment and that most diseases are so much better understood. Gilbertus is not to be blamed; the physicians and research workers who have come since are the ones who are responsible for the improvement.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

QUESTION — What are the cause and treatment for lumbar myositis?

ANSWER — This term means inflammation of the muscles in the lower part of the back. There are many possible causes, such as injury, exposure, and infection. The treatment usually depends on the cause. Heat, massage, immobilization and like treatments are often effective.

By Mildred Crain and Harwood White
Copyright 1949 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Mrs. Margaret Malone, a widow, has just closed up her highway hamburger stand for the season when a gigantic trailer, drawn by a truck and followed by a sedan pulling a smaller trailer, stops at the place. It develops that the cook is leaving the woman who lives in the trailer, Mrs. Everson. Rudy, the uniformed chauffeur of the truck, offers Mrs. Malone the job. Somehow Rudy looks familiar to Mrs. Malone. In spite of the warning of the cook who is leaving, that Mrs. Everson is crazy, Mrs. Malone takes the position. Mrs. Everson says she is "a traveler" on her way to spend the winter in a remote, unsettled part of the country. This trailer, she says, is her home.

III

MRS. EVERSON had crossed the compartment and now opened a door in the far side of the vestibule which folded back upon itself like a fan . . . a compact and space-saving contrivance. Beyond, there were two rooms with an open door between: a kitchen, and a bed-sitting room.

Farther back, another door opened into storage space and a lavatory. Everything was brand new, shining, of the finest quality, convenient, workable. The kitchen itself made Mrs. Malone's mouth water. She thought a chef from a swank hotel would enjoy cooking over such a stove, using such utensils within arm's reach of such a variety of spices, flavorings, condiments and essentials. The window, curtained daintily, now framed the familiar desert, the dark clumps of mesquite, the distant blue of hills.

"As you see," Mrs. Everson said, using the phrase again and with her own particular emphasis, "the room you would occupy has its own radio, a place for your clothes, a reading light."

She turned and looked directly at Mrs. Malone, as if searching for some clue to her personality.

"You seem to be a sensible woman," she said. "Not like that fool who just left. I warn you, there won't be any amusements where I'm going. But I'll pay you well. Three hundred dollars a month. How about it?"

MRS. MALONE realized that she must make her decision quickly. Her mind tried to encompass all the evidence at once, but there wasn't much to go by . . . only these obvious facts: here, manifest, were wealth and power. Here was luxury. The expensive freedom available only to the privileged. . . . Adventure, perhaps. Not Joe's kind . . . not the humane exploration, the search for truth.

This had something uneasy about it, even a little sinister, but also exciting. Mrs. Malone's senses tickled with apprehension and with desire.

"I wonder," she said, "if you would mind my asking a question? Is this a scientific expedition?"

Mrs. Everson smiled. Her long fingers caressed her thighs and she shook her head so that the heavy weight of hair swung from side to side.

"Not exactly," she said. "I'm going hunting. For peace and security. Does that answer your question?"

"Yes," Mrs. Malone said. Suddenly, she decided. "I'll take the job."

"Very well. And please call me Madam. All of my servants do." A sensation of sharp anger rose in Mrs. Malone like a snake coiling to strike. She was, normally, an even-tempered woman, not given to resentment, but she despised arrogance. She controlled herself, now, with an effort.

"Very good, Madam," she heard herself say.

She sounded so exactly like a professional domestic that she laughed inwardly. All at once she began to enjoy herself.

THE trailer swayed slightly when in motion, and there was a faint, faraway sound of deep-treaded tires. The outside world seemed non-existent: it appeared in flowing variations across the windows, but had no more reality than a series of pictures.

The interior itself was air-cooled. Mrs. Malone noticed the blurred whirring of small fans set in ventilators, and as she moved about the kitchen she felt wisps of wind that stirred her hair and touched her cheeks.

She was not expected to prepare lunch. An order scribbled on a piece of blue paper crested in gold called for dinner promptly at six, to be served in the "main salon." Chops, peas, potatoes and gratin, pears, cake, small coffee, mints.

And, as an apparent afterthought, but underscored: "For two. Myself, and my house guest, Marchese Dellacasa. Victor will set the table and serve."

WHO Victor might be, Mrs. Malone had no idea until, toward sunset, when the caravan bumped cautiously off the road and halted. Mrs. Malone saw the driver, quick, catlike, walking back toward the second trailer.

A few moments later her kitchen door opened and Victor entered her life. He was a Filipino, of medium height, young, with an immaculate skin and very black eyes and hair.

He seemed nervous, apologetic. "Are you the new cook? I am Victor. I am pleased to meet you."

His English was impeccable, with a fresh, childlike enunciation. "Hello, Victor. My name's Malone."

Her cheerfulness pleased him visibly. He gave her a shy, quick smile.

"I'm glad the other one went away," he said. "Already she was scared and unhappy. But you are brave."

"Not brave. Just reckless," Mrs. Malone said. "You see, Victor, I'm not one to care much what happens to me. Now show me about the table . . . I'll help."

"Thank you," Victor said. (To Be Continued)

Cardinal is Critical of Mrs. Roosevelt For Opposition To Federal Funds For Private Schools

NEW YORK, July 22 — (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman today criticized Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt for her opposition to federal funds for parochial and private schools.

In a letter to the former first lady, the Catholic prelate said "Your record of anti-Catholicism stands for all to see—a record which you yourself wrote on the pages of history which cannot be recalled—documents of discrimination unworthy of an American mother."

The cardinal's attack was based on articles written by Mrs. Roosevelt in her column, "My Day." Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary said at Hyde Park the letter had not yet been received and that there would be no comment until after its arrival, if then. Cardinal Spellman made the letter public. He wrote that, after Mrs. Roosevelt's first column on the Barden bill June 23, he had intended ignoring it.

Felt Answer Necessary

"But, as the days passed and in two subsequent columns you continued your anti-Catholic campaign, I became convinced that it was in the interest of all Americans and the cause of justice itself that your misstatements should be challenged in every quarter of our country where they have already spun and spread their web of prejudice," his letter said.

"I have received hundreds of messages from persons of all faiths demanding that I answer you. I am, therefore, not free to ignore you."

Federal aid to education is one of the hottest issues now before Congress.

The Senate already has passed a bill providing for such support. It would permit those state that so desire to use funds for aid to parochial schools.

Issue In Committee

In the House, the issue still is in committee. However, the bill introduced by Rep. Graham A. Barden (D-NC) would bar turning over any of the federal money to parochial schools.

In her June 23 column, Mrs. Roosevelt said "The controversy brought about by the request made by Francis Cardinal Spellman that Catholic schools should share in federal aid funds forces upon the citizens of the country the kind of decision that is going to be very difficult to make."

She said "many years ago it was decided that the public schools of our country should be entirely separated from any kind of denominational control, and these are the only schools that are free, tax-supported schools. The greatest number of our children attend these schools."

Charges Prejudice

Cardinal Spellman wrote that "I cannot presume upon the press to discuss, analyze or refute each inaccuracy in your columns—for they are manifold. Had you taken an objective, impersonal stand, I could then, in the same impersonal manner, answer you."

"But you did not. Apparently your attitude of mind precluded you from comprehending issues which you either rigorously defended or flagrantly condemned while ignorant of the facts concerning both the Barden bill and my own denunciation of it."

"America's Catholic youth," the cardinal wrote, "helped fight a long and bitter fight to save all Americans from oppression and persecution. Their broken bodies on blood-soaked foreign fields were grim and tragic testimony to this fact. x x x

"Would you deny equality to these Catholic youth who daily stood at the sad threshold of untimely death and suffered martyrdom that you and I and the world of men might live in liberty and peace?"

Sunday School Lesson

Psalms Knew Sins Were of Man

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The poet Walt Whitman, who wrote more wisely in other matters, thought lightly of the sense of sin. He wrote somewhere about animals not having any sense of sin and suggested man's inferiority in this respect.

The Hebrew Psalmists—poets knew better. They lived in times, like our own, full of violence and man's cruelty to man. They had either experienced, or they lived close to, exiles and disruptions of peoples. There were plenty of "displaced persons" in those days and the Psalmists knew that these inhumanities and cruelties were of man's purpose and design and had their root in sinful hearts.

They were realists about life and man. They had no illusions about man's natural goodness and innocence. Surely in times when we have seen the wickedness of men sending millions of innocent persons to cruel death in extermination camps and ovens, and to even more cruel torture we, too, should have no illusions about sin, as the Psalmists had none.

They knew, too, that the evils so deeply perpetrated were not matters of chance or circumstance. Everything proceeded out of the heart of man and in that heart of man they saw mirrored what they themselves might be, or become.

The writer of Proverbs 27:19 expressed this grim fact in a beautiful figure: "As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man." I suppose that stooping down somewhere to drink in a clear, limpid pool, he had seen his features mirrored there, and the thought had come to him, "That is like the heart of man, a vast depth in which man may see himself reflected and understand his nature."

He knew that in that heart of man there was evil as well as good and it was this that made him so earnest and determined that his own heart should be free from evil.

His deepest prayer was that God would give him a clean heart, and renew a right spirit within him (Psalm 51:10). Nor was his prayer always a confession of despair or contrition he might bewail the depth of his sins; and as for Psalms that King David may have written, he had plenty of cause for contrition, for he had adultery and murder on his conscience.

But after the prayer was a confession of the Psalmist's integrity, not a confession of evil, but of his deep sincerity about being free from evil. So it was that he called on God to search his heart and to know his thoughts and to see if there was any wicked way in him (Psalms 139:23).

That was a matter of rare spiritual courage. We all know that God sees our hearts and knows us for what we are, but I wonder how many of us rejoice in the fact, or really want God to search us.

I make hold to say that the deepest defect of our American life today is the lack of the sense of sin. How can we ever build up a good life without standards of judgment, and a deep and unswerving purpose to be and do right?

RELIGIOUS REMARKABLES . . . By Scheel

T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Not By Bread Alone

"I have a religion of my own, and I don't need to go to church," a man boasted. "I believe in doing things for people. I like to help youngsters who have got into trouble, or any of my friends who may be in need. Is there anything wrong with that?"

"Certainly not," replied his friend, "but doesn't it strike you you could do these things and have no religion at all? You wouldn't even have to believe in God."

"That's true enough, I guess, but—"

The friend cut him short.

"Let's examine this idea of service. If you try to straighten out wayward young people, you've got to have something to offer them. It's no use just telling them how nice it is to be good when they've learned to get a thrill out of being bad. You can bribe them with money, build recreation centers for them, take them to shows, and so on—but will that make them good?"

"Well," said the man, "hasn't it worked out that way in a lot of cases?"

The friend shook his head.

"You can't make a bad boy or girl good by these means alone. You've got to give them something more vital. You've got to give them a permanent, inescapable motive for being good. And the only such motive possible is his or her basic responsibility toward God. That means religion, but not your brand."

"It means," the friend continued after a pause, "that the whole idea of service to others is fallacious unless it takes into account both the reality of God and man's obligations toward Him."

"You"—he pointed a reproving finger as the man shrugged his shoulders in defeat—"make the mistake of ignoring the only enduring part of man—his soul. The 'service to others' you talk about is not a religion at all because it tries to leave God out of the picture entirely."

"Much worse, it is rank materialism. It's the same philosophy the enemies of religion are preaching everywhere today. It's easy enough to fill a man's stomach, but it takes a lot more to keep him contented and happy in mind and spirit as well as body. Think it over."

Dispute Policy On Surrender

Two Leaders in Great Britain in Change of Views

By Harold K. Milks

LONDON, July 22—(P)—Two of Britain's top wartime leaders questioned Thursday the wisdom of Pres. Roosevelt's "unconditional surrender" policy toward Germany.

They were Winston Churchill—who nodded agreement at Casablanca when President Roosevelt first announced such a fight to the finish in 1943—and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who was labor minister in Churchill's war cabinet.

Words of the American president dead five years were quoted in the House of Commons during a debate on foreign affairs in which Bevin charged that unconditional surrender "left us Germany as a shambles."

Both Bevin and Churchill also criticized fluctuations in the American attitude toward the dismantling of German war plants.

They attacked the so-called Morgenthau plan which Churchill himself initiated with Roosevelt at Quebec in 1944. This called for turning postwar Germany into a farming country by stripping away her industry. The plans subsequently was dropped.

Churchill Regretful
Churchill said he was "sorry I put my initials to it."

Bevin, defending the labor government from conservative charges that it had been sluggish in German dismantling, said his efforts were "upset and hindered" by the United States.

Looking at Churchill, the foreign secretary said it was rather hard to have Conservative leaders criticizing policies in Germany after the unconditional surrender policy left Germany a shambles.

Churchill, now leader of the opposition, replied he had agreed to the Roosevelt "unconditional surrender" policy, but only after the term was used by the President "without consultation with me."

"I was there on the spot and I had rapidly to consider whether our position in the world would justify me in not giving support to him," Churchill said.

"I did give support, but it was not the idea I had formed in my own mind."

(The unconditional surrender policy for Germany, Japan and Italy was announced Jan. 26, 1943, at Casablanca after a conference between President Roosevelt and Churchill. Newsmen reported that Churchill nodded assent when the President reported "complete agreement" on unconditional surrender demands.

Approval From Italy on Treaty

Three Injured As Cars Collide

None Seriously Hurt in Accident At High Point

Three persons were injured Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock when the 1934 Plymouth coupe in which they were riding was involved in an accident with two other cars at High Point intersection south of Sedalia on highway 65.

Mrs. O. J. Monsees, a passenger in the car, suffered shock and lacerations on the bridge of her nose and below the right eye. Her mother, Mrs. N. H. Fisher, 50, driver of the car, suffered from shock and small abrasions. Joyce Monsees, five-year-old daughter of Mrs. Monsees, received a cut on the head above the right eye.

Emergency Treatment

They were taken to the Bothwell hospital in the Gillespie ambulance where they received emergency treatment from Dr. Gordon Stauffer. The three were released from the hospital a short time later.

At the time of the accident the three were driving to Memorial Park cemetery and were about to turn off highway 65 and into the cemetery when the accident occurred. The driver of the other car, a 1946 DeSota sedan, was Ralph S. Finkland of Kansas City.

Hit Rear Of Coupe

According to a highway patrol report Finkland asserted that he was following the Plymouth coupe heading south and that when the other car made the turn he hit the rear of the coupe.

The Fisher car then collided with a 1940 Chevrolet coach, owned by Dr. Robert McCracken and driven by Oral M. Green both of Climax Springs, which was parked on the west side of the highway. The left wheel, tire fender and springs of the Chevrolet were damaged.

The front end of the Finkland car was damaged as was the right rear end, windshield and right rear fender of the Fisher car. No arrests were made.

Sgt. William Barton of the State Highway Patrol made an investigation of the accident.

Sisters Trying to Retrieve Doll Drown

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 22—(P)—Two little sisters were drowned Thursday while trying to retrieve a doll from the old Erie canal at nearby Bolivar.

Janet Elaine, 3, and Joan Eileen Case, 6, were playing on a bridge when their doll fell into the water. The sisters ran down a path and into the canal, a five-foot deep channel.

Their father, Howard M. Case, ran to the scene when he saw Jeanette floating in mid-stream. He brought the unconscious child to shore and carried her to a neighbor's home. He then ran back and found Joan's body on the canal bed.

The girls' mother, state police and two doctors worked nearly two hours trying to revive the victims.

Babe Delivered by Phone Instructions

LANSING, MICH., July 22—(P)—Mr. and Mrs. George W. Frazier of Lansing township announce the birth of a baby girl—delivered by telephone.

Here's the way it happened. About 11 p.m. Wednesday night George's wife, Zelma, started to feel those tell-tale pains.

George called an ambulance. But the ambulance didn't show up. And the stork was coming in for a landing.

So George called his mother, put his brother on the end of the phone and through directions from mother to brother to George made a successful delivery of the 4½ pound girl.

Mother and daughter, George, his mother and brother are all doing fine.

Salute to College Athlete Who Declared Faith in His Country

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A salute to Jackie Robinson, former noted college athlete and now the Brooklyn Dodgers' star second baseman, for his inspiring declarations of faith in our country before the un-American Activities committee of the House of Representatives.

That declaration constitutes a moving human document — a notable chapter in the history of our troubled times. It was a difficult task for this young Negro to take the stand and voice an opinion regarding Paul Robeson's statement in Paris that American Negroes wouldn't fight against Russia because they love that country so much.

Robinson had been urged by many people, mostly Communists, not to comply with the committee's request that he appear before it. Why then did he do it? In his straight forward way he told the congressmen it wasn't easy to find the answer, but he guessed "it boils down to a sense of responsibility."

Silly Statement

Jackie said that if Robeson made the statement attributed to him, it sounded "very silly." The witness declared that "most Negroes — and Italians and Irish and Jews and Swedes and Slavs and other Americans — would act as all these groups did in the last war. They'd do their best to help their country stay out of the war; if unsuccessful they'd do their best to help their country win the war — against Russia or any other enemy that threatened us."

But this declaration of loyalty was by no means all to be got out of Jackie's testimony. Under it all appeared to be an undercurrent of faith that America's internal racial problems were on the way to solution. He didn't evade this delicate issue in his testimony. For instance:

Tough on Different People
"I don't pretend to be an expert on Communism or any other kind of political ism. . . . But you can put me down as an expert on being a colored American, with thirty years of experience at it. And, just like any other colored person with sense enough to look around and understand what he sees, I know that life in these United States can be mighty tough for people who are a little different from the majority — in their skin, color or the way that they worship their God, or the way they spell their names."

That stated the issue plainly enough, but Robinson went on to relate how he had been used as "the laboratory specimen" in introducing Negro players into organized baseball. Since then some six other colored players have been signed up — "a start has been made, and progress goes on." And then:

Going to Make Progress
"We're going to make progress in other American fields besides baseball if we can get rid of some of the misunderstandings and confusion that the public still suffers from. . . . I can't speak for any 15,000,000 people any more than any other person can, but I know that I've got too much invested for my wife and child and myself in the future of this country, and I and other Americans of many races and faiths have too much invested in our country's welfare, for any of us to throw it away because of a siren song sung in bass."

"But that doesn't mean," Robinson said, "that we're going to stop fighting race discrimination in this country until we've got it licked. It means that we're going to fight it all the harder because our stake in the future is so big. We can win our fight without the Communists and we don't want their help."

Blunt Language
That's blunt language. However, it seems to me not only a pledge of loyalty, but an expression of the most real problem can be solved. Neither Jackie nor anyone else can say at this juncture how that great and complicated problem can be solved. What we do know is that it must be solved — and who dares say that this task is impossible for a nation which is a leading exponent of goodwill among men. It certainly can't be done by force.

ON THE SPOT—Rep. Paul W. Shafer, Michigan Republican, urged that President Truman suspend his own military aide, Maj.-Gen. Harry H. Vaughn, above, for "being implicated in the same case" which led to the suspension of Maj.-Gen. Herman Feldman and Alden Wiatt. Shafer said he has no evidence against Vaughn except the general's recent remark that he knows of "at least 300" so-called "five per centers."

Chiefs Beat Eldon 12 to 2 With 17 Hits

May and White Shine as Battery For First Time

The Sedalia Ban Johnson Chiefs took a non-league game from the Eldon semi-pro club by a one-sided 12 to 2 score, Thursday night at Liberty Park. It was their sixth non-league victory in seven starts.

Gene May was on the hill for Sedalia, with Phillip White catching. Both boys turned in sparkling performances in their first appearance of the year as a Chiefs' battery. May had nine strikeouts, walked nobody, and allowed only ten hits. Of the ten, two doubles were the only extra-base blows. He was robbed of a shutout in the ninth inning when Eldon scored two runs on two hits and two errors. The two errors were the only ones of the night for the Sedalia aggregation.

The Chiefs also put on a powerful display of hitting, totaling 17 base blows. Imhauser led the parade with four for four, including two doubles. Dillard had four for five, with one double, and Hawley had three for six, also collecting one two-baser.

Six Stolen Bases

The Sedalians pulled some fancy base-stealing, too. R. Waters stole three to run his season's total to 15. Dillard had two, and Hawley had one theft.

Jumping to a four-run lead in the first inning, the Chiefs were never passed. With one out, Hawley doubled, then advanced to third on a ground out by Vilmer. R. Waters got on by an error, Hawley scoring, and then stole second. J. Waters was also on by an error by the pitcher, scoring R. Waters from second. Imhauser singled, sending J. Waters to third, and then Dillard doubled them both home to end the scoring. Sedalia collected four runs on three hits and three errors, and left three men on. They later scored five runs in the fifth inning on six hits and one error.

Jefferies started for Eldon, getting two strikeouts and allowing four passes, but was relieved in the eighth by Stephens, who got one strikeout and allowed one pass. Crisman was the Eldon receiver.

She pitched two and two-thirds innings, allowing three hits. Merrill then relieved and pitched one-hit ball for the rest of the game. Sole was the Toppers' catcher.

Doris Eickhoff pitched for Sacred Heart, allowing only five hits and giving five bases on balls, but was hampered by shaky fielding. Welliver worked behind the plate for Sacred Heart.

Billy Hodges caught balls and strikes, and Earl Spieler and Russell Fisher umpired the bases.

Ike Williams Knocked Out Mexico Boxer

Bolanos Went Down In Fourth Round in Lightweight Bout

By Bob Myers

LOS ANGELES, July 22—(AP)—The championship dream of Mexico's Enrique Bolanos was shattered by a fourth round technical knockout from the furious fists of deadpan Ike Williams but the result brought a quick charge of "foul" from the Latin manager.

Bolanos went down and out before a fusillade of punches in the fourth round of their scheduled 15 round clash for the lightweight championship of the world last night. Some 18,999 spectators paid $108,274 to see the fierce, beating, promoted for the benefit of the Lou Costello, Jr., youth foundation. Williams weighed 135 pounds and Bolanos 133.

Early today, George Parnassus, manager of the defeated challenger, said his boy had been "thumbed" in the eye and thus blinded by Williams, a charge which the champion quickly denied.

Protested Fight

Referee Jack Dempsey, likewise said he didn't see any foul play with the thumb. But Parnassus said he would take his accusation before the California athletic commission in formal protest. It is no secret that Bolanos' left eye trouble marked the beginning of the end. It started closing early in the third and was shut completely by the end of the round.

Parnassus said that Bolanos complained as early as the first round that Williams was giving him "the thumb." Parnassus protested to Dempsey in the third who relayed the protest to Williams.

Injured Eye is Serious

Dr. R. J. Carreon, Jr., an eye specialist who looked at the damaged orb after the fight, said the injury was serious. The damage to the retina, he said, was such that it would have to be kept under observation for at least ten days to prevent permanent damage.

The doctor commented that the bruise on the eyeball would have been difficult to inflict with a gloved fist.

It was Enrique's third crack at the Trenton, N. J., Negro and his third defeat at the hands of the 25-year-old champion.

Champion Ike, appearing stronger and faster than in his previous matches, started swinging at the opening bell. He had the end in sight at the close of the third canto when Bolanos' left eye was shut.

Sky Fell on Him

Bolanos persuaded his corner to let him go out for the fourth where he battled on even terms for the first minute. But then the sky fell on him.

A withering left hook to Enrique's chin dropped him to both knees. He was up at nine, but Williams, with rocking blows to the head and body, sent him to the canvas again.

Referee Dempsey and Bolanos' handlers halted the proceedings simultaneously with 20 seconds left in the round.

Cards All Set For Series In Brooklyn

Browns Ran Their Winning Streak To Six Games

By The Associated Press

Something on the order of a National league "world series" opens in Brooklyn tonight, and the St. Louis Cardinals couldn't be in better form for it. Their tail feathers are up.

What got them up was winning two out of three games at Boston, the last one by a 3 to 1 score yesterday afternoon, a game that marked the return to form of Harry (The Cat) Brecheen.

The Dodgers haven't been doing so badly themselves, considering their ninth inning spurt that snatched victory away from the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday, 7 to 6. The Pirates had made it 6 to 5 in their part of the ninth. Brooklyn's Mexican returnee, Luis Olmo, delivered the winning hit.

No Trouble Downing Braves

The Cards had no trouble at all in downing the Braves. Brecheen held the Bean boys to five hits while the Redbirds got to Johnny Antonelli for eight and Glenn Elliott for two, scoring in the second, fourth and seventh innings.

The Braves put their leadoff man on base in six of the last eight innings, but the crafty Brecheen worked his way out every time.

Brooklyn holds a two-and-a-half game edge as this four game series begins. George Munger gets the call for the Cardinals tonight against Preacher Roe.

At St. Louis the Browns ran a winning streak to six games before losing the last of a twin bill to Philadelphia. The Brownies piled up an 11-run inning in the first one, winning 15 to 2, and dropped the second game 3-2.

It was a new American league record for runs in one inning when St. Louis rolled up 11 in the sixth inning, highlighted by a grand slam home run by rookie Roy Sievers. Fourteen Brownies went to bat and seven of them got hits.

St. Paul Defeated Milwaukee 4 to 3

By The Associated Press

St. Paul defeated Milwaukee 4 to 3 last night to increase its first-place margin to 1½ games over runnerup Indianapolis. The Indians dropped an 11-inning 2 to 1 decision to last-place Toledo.

In the third American Association game, Columbus downed Louisville 7 to 4. Rain stopped Minneapolis and Kansas City.

St. Paul and Milwaukee were tied at 3-3 apiece going into the ninth. A safe bout by Buddy Hicks, an error by Nick Etten on Earl Naylor's double-play ball and Eric Tipton's long fly sent the winning run across. The win was the first for the Saints in seven games at Milwaukee.

At Indianapolis, George Corona's single in the 11th scored Tony Lupien from second with Toledo's winning run. It was a pitching victory for Hal White over Mel Queen.

Two three-run innings, for Columbus led the Red Birds' victory over Louisville. The first three runs in the third inning resulted from sloppy fielding, and the second three run blast in the ninth developed from bad pitching by reliever Mike Palmo. The win gave Columbus the series 2 to 1.

Tonight's schedule: Louisville at Toledo. Indianapolis at Columbus. (Only games scheduled).

Iola Indians Defeated Chanute in 11 Innings

By The Associated Press

Somebody must have forgotten to tell the Pittsburg Brownies they were out of the K-O-M baseball flag chase.

The last place Brownies last night helped Iola tighten up the race by defeating first place Independence 4-3, while Iola was licking Chanute 6-5. That left the Yankees only three games ahead of Iola.

Playing their first game under the management of Olin Smith, the Brownies won behind the steady hurling of Johnny Waltman. The Browns got only three safeties off two Independence pitchers, but took advantage of numerous walks and Yank errors.

The game was played at Pittsburg.

The Iola Indians had to go 11 innings in defeating Chanute. At that, the winning run came with two away and on an error. Iola fans went wild as their team opened its new home stand in victory.

The Bartlesville Pirates, one of the more savage outfits in the league when they are right, smothered Miami's Owls, 16-2, in their opener at Miami. The Pirates got 16 hits and were aided by six Miami bobbles. Bob Wheeler gave only three safeties in going the distance for Bartlesville.

Carthage stayed in the thick of the fight by beating Ponca City 7-2 at the Oklahoma park. Carthage got three runs in the eighth and two in the ninth to turn the trick. Bill Costa's eighth inning homer with one on provided the winning margin.

Second games in the new series are scheduled for tonight.

Coalition to Try for Cut In Spending

Lucas Contends Congress Do Own Economizing

WASHINGTON, July 22—(P)—A powerful 63-member economy coalition in the Senate Thursday broadly hinted that it may try to tack on to an appropriation bill its measure to force President Truman to cut spending 5 to 10 per cent.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark) asked Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois to bring the cost slash plan to a vote. Lucas politely refused to say when, if ever, it will come up. He contends Congress should do its own economizing.

McClellan said that unless Lucas agrees to consider it, the measure probably must be offered as an amendment to a bill. He said he is reluctant to usurp the leadership.

Republican leader Wherry of Nebraska observed that the GOP policy committee unanimously favors acting on the proposal.

Lucas, who controls the orders of legislation, in the Senate, gave this look into the future in answer to senators' questions:

1. He could "almost assure" Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) that the Senate will take action on the House-approved bill to repeal federal oleomargarine taxes.

2. There may be night sessions next Tuesday and Thursday with some Saturday sessions likely. He reminded the Senate it faced a heavy schedule.

3. Senate debate on civil rights measures this session is a possibility.

4. The bill raising the hourly minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents will be put aside a few days to act on several major appropriations, including funds for foreign aid and the armed services.

The Senate appropriations committee, meanwhile, poured cold water on the plans for Chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla) to save $600,000,000 by cutting down on stockpile buying.

Thomas told reporters so, after a closed committee session. But he voiced hope of "substantial support" for a smaller cut in the $825,000,000 military stockpile program.

And the committee struck a different kind of blow for economy. It handed the Army, Navy and Air Force a list of specific money-saving ideas.

They ranged from taking superfluous gadgets off jeeps to a multi-million dollar economy program of closing down inactive or semi-active military posts and stations.

Putting a finger on some further outlays deemed to be dubious, the committee's report suggested these savings:

Up to $50,000,000 a year by economizing on the practice flying of Navy and Air Force desk officers—making them use smaller planes, double up on training flights, and fly fewer hours.

Another $25,000,000 by cutting back the flying time of Air Force Reserve and Guard flyers.

About $77,000,000 by postponing Army orders for a new "sky-sweeper" anti-aircraft gun pending further tests. The guns cost $238,000 each.

The proposals were filed with the Senate to back up the committee's decision to lop $1,118,736,322 from the $15,908,000,000 military appropriation voted by the House for the 1950 fiscal year which started this month.

The ending of one-year enlistments for volunteers under the draft law will save an estimated $50,000,000, the report added. Price declines may account for $11,000,000 more.

Thomas had hoped to recapture a further $600,000,000 by taking a new look at the stockpiling act,

NEW FLYING BOAT FOR NAVY—This is the Navy's speedy XP5Y-1 patrol plane, now nearing completion at the San Diego, Calif., plant of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. Test flights are scheduled for this fall. The 60-ton craft, powered by four Allison propeller-turbine engines, is designed for long-range day and night sea search, rescue operations and anti-submarine patrol.

RIOT QUELLED — Scene in the union hall of the AFL Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' Union of America, local 264 at Kansas City, Mo., police arrived to quell a riot which started as Rep. Leonard Irving (D-Mo), president and business manager for the local, spoke on union charges of diversion of union funds against him. After the hall was cleared, it was divulged that an attempt was made to stab the congressman from Pres. Truman's home district in Independence. which already is approved. He called the committee into special session to consider it.

He emerged to tell reporters that such a big slash appears impossible. Western legislators are known to be reluctant. The cut would affect lead, zinc and other strategic metals and minerals produced in the mountain states.

Plane Crashes; All Escape

WISBECH, Eng., July 22—(P)—An American B-29 Superfortress on a routine flight crashed and burned near here Thursday night. A U.S. Air Force spokesman said all 12 crewmen escaped serious injury.

Occupants of the plane parachuted to safety. No names were disclosed. Cause of the crash has not been determined.

Capt. G. A. Harty, public relations officer for the American third division in London, said the worst injuries were a possible skull fracture suffered by the pilot and a leg fracture for another member of the crew.

Harty said he was receiving his information "from people on the scene." The bomber was stationed at Sculthorpe, big American air base in Norfolk county, in north-east England.

Wisbech is in Cambridgeshire, about 85 miles northeast of London.

Wreckage was strewn for about a mile. One eyewitness said the falling plane "looked like a ball of fire."

Train Through a Wall of Flames

MONTEBELLO, Calif., July 22—(P)—His clothing burning on his body, an engineer rode his train through a gigantic ball of flames Thursday to save 150 passengers from harm.

H. E. Byers, 55, Las Vegas, Nev., was at the throttle of the Union Pacific's streamliner "The City of Los Angeles," when it struck a 7300-gallon gasoline tank truck and touched off an explosion heard for miles. The driver of the truck was fatally burned.

Flames roared hundreds of feet into the air, witnesses said.

Byers stayed at the controls and pulled his train through the holocaust. Flames sweeping in through

It was nice and cool down there and Royse told his fellow-workers "You know, for $25, I'd stay in this sewer all night." Timothy Aspery took him up on it and Royse won the bet. Above, the heavy iron grill that covered the sewer opening has been removed so he can have his picture taken with Aspery and Thomas Hill, right. Aspery, sewer-bound from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m., said it "wasn't bad down there" despite a foot of water at the bottom and an odor that definitely was not Chanel No. 5.

Senses Danger of Hitting a Rut

TULSA, Okla., July 22—(P)—In a rapidly moving air-age, American military thinking is in danger of getting in a "traditional rut," Maj. Gen. Orvil A. Anderson said here Thursday.

"We lean too heavily on past experience in a pragmatic way," Gen. Anderson, commandant of the Air War College, Maxwell Field, Ala., told the Chamber of Commerce's weekly public affairs forum.

In the past, he said, wars moved slowly enough that mistakes were not costly and military men could improve.

Now, he emphasized, students of war must "evaluate, analyze, appraise and not accept anything blindly."

"Assumptions are unacceptable in a rapidly moving air age," said Anderson. "Neither are there any correct answers to any problem. Evolution is changing every factor too rapidly."

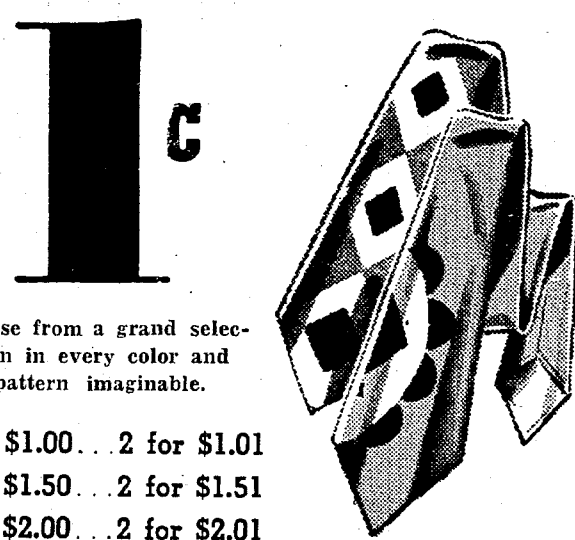

"No strategy and no solution of military problems of the past is sacrosanct."

Subsidy Plan Is Defeated

House Votes to Continue The Present Price Support Act

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—In a major defeat for the Truman administration, the House today scuttled the Brannan farm subsidy plan 239 to 170 and voted to continue the present price support program through 1950.

The Brannan plan, offered by the Secretary of Agriculture, would let the market price of perishable goods drop to their natural level. If they went below a point considered fair to farmers, the government (meaning the taxpayers) would pay subsidies to the farmers.

Under the present program, the government keeps surpluses off the market by means of purchases and loans. Prices of major commodities are supported rigidly in this way at 90 per cent of parity, which is a price aimed at giving the farmers a "fair" purchasing power. Any losses on such operations are made good by the taxpayers.

The Crucial Test
The bill continuing this program another year was passed and sent to the Senate on a vote of 383 to 25 but the previous roll call by which the Brannan plan was beaten, 239 to 170, was the crucial test.

The House also made another major decision—shouting approval of an amendment to kill the Aiken farm law enacted by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress. Set to become effective in 1950, this law would permit a flexible 60 to 90 per cent of parity support for major crops.

A Democratic-Republican coalition, headed by Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.), took complete charge of the House, and not even a personal appeal by Speaker Rayburn could save the day for the administration. Many men—such as Gore and Monroney of Oklahoma—who have supported many administration bills, joined the opposition to the Brannan plan.

Some members of the coalition said the plan, which promised cheaper food for consumers, got its support principally from organized labor—not from farmers. They argued that subsidies would make farmers wards of the government, and would lead to a peacetime OPA and cost billions more than present price supports.

Brannan's backers warned, on the other hand, that under the present program the consumers may be saddled with huge costs to keep prices up while seeing food "rot on the ground."

Bitter Debate
There was a bitter debate before the house got down to voting. Rep. Pace (D-Ga.) argued that the whole issue is "whether your government will continue to buy food and destroy it."

Pace is the author of the administration's new farm bill which would permit a three-crop trial run of the Brannan subsidy plan.

Shortly after he spoke, however, Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.) formally laid before the House his substitute measure and called for a showdown vote on it.

Gore, leader of a Democratic-Republican coalition, proposes to junk the administration plan and continue the present farm price support program in 1950. He claimed enough votes to do it.

Consider Consumer
Pace told the House it "is time to consider the consumer."

He cited the present government program of buying surplus potatoes to bolster market prices. He said this had cost $408,000,000 and many of the potatoes were destroyed.

He urged Secretary of Agriculture Brannan's subsidy plan as a means of preventing such destruction and getting the potatoes to the consumer under that plan, prices would fall to their natural level. The farmer would receive a government check to make up the difference between that price and what the government considers a fair price.

The House was called into session two hours earlier than usual to make crucial decisions that may determine the political fortunes of many farm belt Republicans and Democrats in the 1950 congressional campaign.

Coalition to Try for Cut In Spending

Lucas Contends Congress Do Own Economizing

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—A powerful 63-member economy coalition in the Senate today broadly hinted that it may try to tack on to an appropriation bill its measure to force President Truman to cut spending 5 to 10 per cent.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) asked Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois to bring the cost slash plan to a vote. Lucas politely refused to say when, if ever, it will come up. He contends Congress should do its own economizing. McClellan said that unless Lucas agrees to consider it, the measure probably must be offered as an amendment to a bill. He said he is reluctant to usurp the leadership.

Republican leader Wherry of Nebraska observed that the GOP policy committee unanimously favors acting on the proposal.

Lucas, who controls the orders of legislation, in the Senate, gave this look into the future in answer to senators' questions:

1. He could "almost assure" the Senate will take action on the House-approved bill to repeal federal oleomargarine taxes.

2. There may be night sessions next Tuesday and Thursday with some Saturday sessions likely. He reminded the Senate it faced a heavy schedule.

3. Senate debate on civil rights measures this session is a possibility.

4. The bill raising the hourly minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents will be put aside a few days to act on several major appropriations, including funds for foreign aid and the armed services.

The Senate appropriations committee, meanwhile, poured cold water on the plans for Chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) to save $600,000,000 by cutting down on stockpile buying.

Thomas told reporters so, after a closed committee session. But he voiced hope of "substantial support" for a smaller cut in the $825,000,000 military stockpile program.

And the committee struck a different kind of blow for economy. It handed the Army, Navy and Air Force a list of specific money-saving ideas.

They ranged from taking superfluous gadgets off jeeps to a multimillion dollar economy program of closing down inactive or semi-active military posts and stations.

Putting a finger on some further outlays deemed to be dubious, the committee's report suggested these savings:

Up to $50,000,000 a year by economizing on the practice flying of Navy and Air Force desk officers—making them use smaller planes, double up on training flights, and fly fewer hours.

Another $25,000,000 by cutting back the flying time of Air Force Reserve and Guard flyers.

About $77,000,000 by postponing Army orders for a new "sky-sweeper" anti-aircraft gun pending further tests. The guns cost $238,000 each.

The proposals were filed with the Senate to back up the committee's decision to lop $1,118,736,322 from the $15,908,000,000 military appropriation voted by the House for the 1950 fiscal year which started this month.

The ending of one-year enlistments for volunteers under the draft law will save an estimated $50,000,000, the report added. Price declines may account for $11,000,000 more.

Thomas had hoped to recapture a further $600,000,000 by taking a new look at the stockpiling act, which already is approved. He called the committee into special session to consider it.

He emerged to tell reporters that such a big slash appears impossible. Western legislators are known to be reluctant. The cut would affect lead, zinc and other strategic metals and minerals produced in the mountain states.

Atomic Policy Is Safe

No Need For The American People To Worry, Truman Tells Reporters

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP)—President Truman said today there is nothing for the American people to be alarmed about in current hush-hush talks about atomic foreign policy.

Mr. Truman was sharply critical at a news conference, however, of the man he said leaked information to the press in advance of an atomic policy meeting the president held at Blair House last Thursday.

Mr. Truman said he knows who the man is, but he did not identify him.

The Blair House conference, bringing together high government and congressional leaders, was the first of two major conferences which have been held on atomic matters.

The second was a meeting at the capitol yesterday, called by the Senate-House Atomic Energy committee.

Misgivings Eased
The second meeting appeared to have eased misgivings of some lawmakers that the president might act on his own to give Britain some A-bomb secrets.

After it was over, senators who had talked of making some move to bar the president from acting in that field by executive order said they would not press anything along that line now.

Mr. Truman told reporters the subject of the Blair House meeting was important, as are all subjects on which he calls conferences.

But he said that newspaper accounts were exaggerated—there were no deep dark secrets at the meeting.

He said he could not give any but went on to say that the Blair House meeting was relatively unimportant.

Brought Leaders Together
It brought together the heads of the State and Defense departments, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and both Democratic and Republican leaders in Congress.

Also attending were two men whose identity was not disclosed. White House police would not permit any pictures to be made of those entering the meeting.

As to the news "leaks" about the meeting, Mr. Truman said with warmth in his voice that it was the first occasion on which any persons invited to a White House meeting had leaked to the press.

He did not like it, he added. Asked if he knew who it was that leaked, he said: Yes, he did. He was asked if that person would attend a second White House conference.

Mr. Truman said there had been no second conference. He would not comment further.

Concluding his remarks, he asked the newspaper men to be patient until all the rumors are flooded.

President Reported to Have Given Vaughan Mock Medal

NEW YORK, July 21—(AP)—Newsweek magazine says that President Truman gave a mock decoration to his military aid, Maj. Gen. Harry A. Vaughan, for his recent brush with newsmen who questioned him about "five percenters" who allegedly used influence to obtain government contracts.

The incident occurred July 6 when Vaughan returned with his family from a three-week vacation trip to Guatemala. Vaughan declined to comment on a coming congressional investigation of "five percenters," and expressed anger when one reporter questioned him about the financing of his vacation trip. He said each participant paid his own fare.

Vaughn reported for duty last Monday. Newsweek said the president, looking severe, fished a pink-ribboned package out of his desk and commanded the general to open it.

"In recognition of your courage and intrepidity over and beyond the call of duty," Newsweek said the president intoned, "I hereby decorate you with the medal of Operation Union Station."

The president then pinned the medal on Vaughan's uniform.

Warns Against Tearing Down US Way of Life

New President Lions International In Patriotic Talk

NEW YORK, July 21—(AP)—The new president of Lions International sounded a warning today against forces which threaten "the supporting fiber of the Christian or Democratic way of life."

Walter C. Fisher of Queens, Ont., unanimous choice of the 26-nation service organization for the presidency, was the principal speaker at the final session of its 4-day 32nd annual convention.

Fisher said some people in the world—he did not name them—"are using every conceivable means to accomplish the exact opposite of our aims."

He called on the thousands of delegates "to employ the forces of Lionism to uproot the undesirable practices in your community which may have a tendency to become fertile breeding ground for the spores of anarchy."

Melvin Jones of Chicago, secretary-general and founder of Lionism, reported that 757 clubs and 23,282 members were added in the past year. Four new countries were added to the roster, he said—France, Bolivia, the Philippines and Norway.

International directors elected for two-year terms included: Ronnie F. McReenwell of Hayti, Mo.

Flames roared hundreds of feet into the air, witnesses said. Byers stayed at the controls and pulled his train through the holocaust. Flames sweeping in through the window ate the clothing away from his upper torso.

He is not expected to live, said attendants at General Hospital.

The girls' mother, state police and two doctors worked nearly two hours trying to revive the victims.

Tell of Visit To Europe

Rev. and Mrs. Bird Campbell Spoke To Kiwanians

Rev. and Mrs. Bird Campbell, formerly of the Assembly of God church of Sedalia, were the guest speakers at the regular meeting of the Sedalia Kiwanis club held Thursday evening in the Pioneer Room of Dan's cafe. Only a round table meeting was held in the Bothwell hotel at noon that day.

The Campbells, residents of Sedalia since 1944, returned June 28 from a trip to Europe to attend the World Conference of Pentecostal churches at Paris. They also toured Europe extensively, viewing first-hand many of the cities and meeting large numbers of people in their work of preaching, which they continued on their tour. Their talks centered around their impressions of Europe as a whole, following the war period.

Gives Woman's View

Mrs. Campbell spoke first, giving the "woman's view" of Europe. She emphasized repeatedly the great difference in food between America and Europe, and stated that many of our most commonplace American dishes are completely unknown in foreign lands.

She told of the fashions of Europe, which differed greatly from ours, and were almost all inferior in fabric and design, at least those of everyday wear. The Campbells visited almost every country in Europe, and all the provinces of the British Isles, but considered Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries the most beautiful.

Shortage Of Foods

Rev. Campbell also spoke of the food situation in Europe, saying that he lost 15 pounds in two months simply because of the lower quality and smaller quantities of food there. He told of experiences in encountering rationing in England, a result of the war, and the general lower standard of living, almost always apparent in the homes of clergymen he visited.

He told of seeing the great shipbuilding projects of the English, and of hearing an almost universal opinion on the possibility of war—that war with Russia was inevitable—expressed by the English. He said that they also had little regard for their national health program, which has proved too cumbersome and costly.

Many European cities, he said, have been destroyed beyond description, and only a trip to Europe would bring a true realization of the aftermath of the war. He gave a vivid account of the complete destruction of Hamburg, Germany, as an example. He also said that the Germans would risk death to escape from the Russian-occupied zone of that country, so terrible were conditions there.

Following the talks, colored movie films taken during the trip were shown.

Rev. and Mrs. Campbell plan to enter evangelistic work in the near future, and have made engagements for several cities throughout the United States already. However, they will retain their home and headquarters in Sedalia.

J. T. Alexander introduced the speakers as master of ceremonies for the evening. Bert Hathaway was in charge of the meeting as president.

Dispute Policy On Surrender

Two Leaders in Great Britain in Change of Views

By Harold K. Mills

LONDON, July 21—(AP)—Two of Britain's top wartime leaders questioned today the wisdom of President Roosevelt's "unconditional surrender" policy toward Germany.

They were Winston Churchill—who nodded agreement at Casablanca when President Roosevelt first announced such a fight to the finish in 1943—and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who was labor minister in Churchill's war cabinet.

Words of the American president dead five years were quoted in the House of Commons during a debate on foreign affairs in which Bevin charged that unconditional surrender "left us Germany as a shambles."

Both Bevin and Churchill also criticized fluctuations in the American attitude toward the dismantling of German war plants.

They attacked the so-called Morgenthau plan which Churchill himself initiated with Roosevelt at Quebec in 1944. This called for turning postwar Germany into a farming country by stripping away her industry. The plans subsequently was dropped.

Churchill Regretful
Churchill said he was "sorry I put my initials to it."

Bevin, defending the labor government from conservative charges that it had been sluggish in German dismantling, said his efforts were "upset and hindered" by the United States.

Looking at Churchill, the foreign secretary said it was rather hard to have Conservative leaders criticizing policies in Germany after the unconditional surrender. He said that the Germans would risk death to escape from the Russian-occupied zone of that country, so terrible were conditions there.

Following the talks, colored movie films taken during the trip were shown.

Rev. and Mrs. Campbell plan to enter evangelistic work in the near future, and have made engagements for several cities throughout the United States already. However, they will retain their home and headquarters in Sedalia.

Senses Danger of Hitting a Rut

TULSA, Okla., July 21.—(AP)—In a rapidly moving air-age, American military thinking is in danger of getting in a "traditional rut," Maj. Gen. Orvil A. Anderson said here today.

"We lean too heavily on past experience in a pragmatic way," Gen. Anderson, commandant of the Air War College, Maxwell Field, Ala., told the Chamber of Commerce's weekly public affairs forum.

In the past, he said, wars moved slowly enough that mistakes were not costly and military men could improve.

Now, he emphasized, students of war must "evaluate, analyze, appraise and not accept anything blindly."

"Assumptions are unacceptable in a rapidly moving air age," said Anderson. "Neither are there any correct answers to any problem. Evolution is changing every factor too rapidly."

"No strategy and no solution of military problems of the past is sacrosanct."

He said a bottleneck had occurred in the hospitals' efforts to handle patients requiring isolation but expressed belief that it was temporary. "There will be room for more polio patients," he said.

The slender, grey-haired farmer also is charged with killing his former wife, his 18-year-old daughter, Gloria, and her two-months-old baby in a bloody Christmas week shooting spree.

Judge L. C. Corban set Hinton's execution for August 26.

PIKEVILLE, Ky., July 21.—(AP)—Blaine Edgar Jones, 32-year-old Navy veteran, tonight signed a confession to the robbery-slaying of Mrs. Lois Collins but denied that he had raped her.

Sanders said Jones emphatically denied that he criminally assaulted the woman, a bride of six months.

Osage County Sheriff Charles Cass disclosed he received this morning a letter from Attwood admitting he killed the infant. The officer said the letter was postmarked yesterday from Sedan, Kas.

Cass said, however, that Attwood did not exonerate his wife, 50, or her daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Retha May Orcutt, 29, in the slaying.

They were revealed today by county attorney R. E. Havens to have been charged, along with prominent Nevada club woman, charged with the embezzlement of $8,883 in jewelry, is of unsound mind.

Man in Charge MTS Boonville Has Resigned

JEFFERSON CITY, July 21.—(AP)—Bert E. Fenenga resigned last night as superintendent of Missouri's Training School for Boys at Boonville.

He was the third man to head the institution in two years. For the past month he has been on leave of absence.

Fenenga said he planned to return to his former position in the St. Louis school system where he will be eligible for retirement in six years. He said he had never been given a merit system examination for the training school post.

W. E. Sears, state director of training schools, in a statement from the training school board, said:

"The board is appreciative of Mr. Fenenga's services during some extremely difficult periods, but sympathizes with his desire to return to his established position in the St. Louis school system.

"The board will continue its unyielding policy of administering the schools entirely without politics x x x."

Patrick D. Sweeney will continue as acting superintendent the statement said. Sears announced that the board will meet in Boonville late next month.

Concerning recent rumors that firearms were found in the possession of inmates at the Boonville institution, Sears declared: "There have been no guns found at Boonville."

To Have Examination

Ralph J. Turner, state personnel director, said a merit system examination for the superintendent's post would be given, but he didn't know when. The personnel division has been so busy with examinations for 382 job classifications that it just hasn't gotten to the Boonville position, he explained.

The boys training school has been a tough problem for officials. The Rev. Leroy Munyon resigned as superintendent Aug. 19, 1947, in the midst of a controversy over conditions there.

John C. Tindall took the job, and was fired by Gov. Phil Donnelly Jan. 31, 1948. Donnelly placed the highway patrol in charge of the school until Finenga stepped in March 31, 1948.
